TIDAL WAVE HITS FRENCH STEAMER

Grizzled Mariners Weep Like Children while Telling of Suffering at Sea

CYCLONE SWEEPS THE VESSEL

Mountain of Water Falls on Crowded Ship, Carrying Seamen to Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A wild tale of the sea, wherein iron nerves of hardy seamen broke and grizzled mariners wept like children, was told today when the battered French steamer Santa Anna drew up off quarantine today and reported the death of four of her sailors and the serious injury of several others. A great wave swept the four men overboard. The Santa Anna left Naples on Nov. 14, bringing twenty-one first cabin, 126 second-class and 882 steerage passengers. Heavy seas and high winds were encountered from the moment she stuck her nose into the Atlantic.

On November 25 she ran into a sou'wester against which she fought all morning. Passengers were ordered below. At 10:30 during the most violent part of the storm, there rose without warning a great sea, almost like a tidal wave. It seemed to hover about the prow of the vessel and then fell with overpowering force upon the decks, washing all before it.

The vessel was thrown off her course and dropped into the trough of the sea.

The helmsman threw the vessel back into the gale. Far astern, Durando, Sarto, Calisto and Quarelli, four able-bodied seamen, were swimming in the sea, shrieking for help. Out on the deck, Seaman Foixel and Roumen and Pazsetti, a ship's boy, were lying on the deck crushed.

Captain Peavey signalled the engines to stop and the liner turned toward the four seamen who had reached life rafts. Durando, Sarto and Calisto apparently stunned, sank from sight.

Quarrelli fought until the liner dropped him a life rope which he tied about his waist and was hauled back to the deck.

Seaman Foixel's back was broken and he died two days later.

On November 25 a terrific cyclone swept the vessel.

NEW YORK TO BE BATTLE GROUND

Gifford Pinchot Says La Follette Is Logical Successor to Colonel Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—An open, free-for-all fight for the republican presidential nomination in 1912 with no candidate having the backing or opposition of Colonel Roosevelt, is predicted today.

That New York will be one of the battlegrounds in the fight for delegates to the convention is believed to have been assured by a speech made last night by Giford Pinchot, one of Roosevelt's "tennis cabinet," and his close personal friend. Speaking at the banquet of the insurgent club, Pinchot said: "Since Mr. Roosevelt has eliminated himself, Senator La Follette is his logical successor."

The insurgent movement, Pinchot averred, is bigger than the individual, but a leader was necessary.

"The crystallization about this leader will proceed even faster since this morning,' said Pinchot, referring to the fact that Roosevelt's authorized statement that he would support no candidate, had been published that morning.

Although Pinchot took pains to emphasize that he spoke for himself alone progressive republicans admit they are greatly pleased with the speech as coming from a man so close to Mr. Roosevelt. Colonel Roosevelt's attitude, they declare, has freed his followers to support La Follette if they wish.

RYAN STRIKES IT RICH IN CONGO

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The first fruits of Thomas Fortune Ryan's business partnership with the late King Leopold of Belgium have reached the New York custom house. They are 240 uncut diamonds. What they are worth has not been determined.

Ryan was surprised to find himself a diamond king. In 1906, he became Leopold's chief business partner by putting up the greater part of $1,500,000 for the Congo Free State concessions. He had hazy dreams of being a rubber king. Instead he finds himself the principal owner of a diamond "farm" of 166,000 acres. Ryan has had a force of twenty-five engineers and prospectors at work in the Congo for two years. Today's shipment of diamonds was the first result of their work.

John D. Gets Credit For Preventing War

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 28.—That John D. Rockefeller really stepped in and prevented war between Germany and France during the strained times over the Moroccan situation is the statement here today of a local paper. When the war cloud gathered it resulted in the French bank's calling in immense loans. The German financiers were caught entirely off their guard. French and English bankers did not care to help the Germans, the story asserts and when help was asked from Wall street, the American financiers did not respond readily.

Then the Germans decided that John D. was the most likely person with $100,000,000 available, and he was approached while playing golf in Cleveland. Rockefeller, it is said, agreed to make the loan only on the condition that the peace of Europe would be continued. Rockefeller left here on a secret mission to New York and soon after his arrival was assured there would be no war. The money was then advanced.

NANKIN'S FALL IS BLOW TO DYNASTY

Rebels Capture Great Chinese City after Desperate Hand-to-Hand Fight

WU CHANG IS SURRENDERED

Foreigners Barricade Street and Prepare to Resist the Threatened Massacre

SHANGHAI, Nov. 28.—The rebels rushed the Nankin fortifications today and captured the city after a desperate hand to hand fight in which 700 imperialists and 500 revolutionists were killed.

The capture of Nankin by the revolutionists is the heaviest blow the government has suffered. It is an important military depot and its commerce is extensive.

Details of the city's fall are lacking. The rebels are certain to avenge the Manchu massacre of the Chinese inhabitants three weeks ago.

Wu Chang Surrenders

Wu Chang has surrendered to the imperialists today. The three towns of Hankow, Han Yang and Wu Chang are separated from one another only by forks of the Yangtse river, and practically constitute a single city. Definite news has not been received from Hankow, but it is believed to be still under imperialist control.

Advices from Han Yang today say foreigners have barricaded the streets leading into their concessions and are preparing to offer desperate resistance in case of an anti-foreign outbreak. Maxim guns have been mounted by the foreigners, but it is not believed that a vigorous attack could be withstood.

Foreigners Face Massacre

PEKIN, Nov. 28.—A slaughter of foreigners as well as Chinese is threatened at Han Yang, where the imperial troops are looting homes and killing all natives suspected of being in sympathy with the rebel cause. Foreigners are making efforts to get out of the danger zone, but the chance of escape is slight should the Manchu forces begin a massacre. The situation is generally being regarded as more critical than at any time during the Boxer uprising.

DEPOT ROBBERY; ARREST M'GRATH

Joseph McGrath, for a time a mail wagon driver employed by the Hayes Transfer company, is locked up at the central police station, charged with breaking into the Northwestern passenger station last night.

The robbery was committed about 6:15 yesterday evening, while Arnold E. Mueske, second trick operator, was away at supper. The office was locked, but entrance was effected by breaking a window in the ticket office. Nothing was taken, it was announced at the station this afternoon.

McGrath was arrested on suspicion, having been seen hanging about the depot a great deal recently.

STOKES TAKES THE STAND

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A new juryman was selected today to replace Terry Hinkel, dismissed yesterday, and the trial of Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, charged with shooting W. E. D. Stokes, was resumed. Stokes took the stand and the court stenographer read all the testimony he had given thus far.

WENCH CONFESSES TO TEN MURDERS

Young Negress Laughs as She Tells of Appearance of Victims After Slaughter

TWO FAMILIES ARE KILLED

Says They were Slain Because They Refused to Obey Church Orders

LAFAYETTE, La., Nov. 28.—Her speech punctuated by peals of hysterical laughter as she recounted the appearance of her victims after their slaughter, Clementine Barnebat, 18, a negress, today confessed to the police that she had murdered Norbet Randall, a negro, his wife and four children, all under nine years of age last Sunday night, and that she had assisted in the murders of four members of the Andrus family, also colored, last February. The heads of the victims were split open with an axe.

Early Monday morning neighbors of the Randall family, alarmed at the silence which pervaded the house, broke in the door and discovered the entire family, their heads split open by blows from a sharp instrument. Randall and his wife had been murdered as they lay in bed, while the bodies of the children were on the floor. Further search disclosed the blood stained axe hidden behind the door.

Several persons were found who had seen the Barnebat girl in the vicinity late Sunday night and she was arrested on suspicion. After a night in a police cell, and a touch of the third degree, she confessed today that she had killed the entire family because they refused to obey "church orders." The negress is a deaconess in a negro church in "Sacrifice," the Randalls attending the same place of worship.

Under further pressure from the police the girl also admitted that she and her father, also an officer of the church, had killed, in the same manner, the Andrus family of four last February. The Andruses, she said, had also failed to obey the mandates of the church and had been killed, "according to a message from God."

The police are searching for the girl's father, who has disappeared. The girl will be examined as to her sanity.

SHAKER CASE UP TO GRAND JURY

County Officials to Push Charges Against Aged Couple who Killed Woman

KISSIMMEE, Fla., Nov. 28.—The famous Shaker murder case, involving the right of relieving suffering by putting a hopeless victim of disease to death, was given to the Osceola county grand jury here today.

Brother Egbert Gillette and Sister Elizabeth Sears, each more than 60 years old, are charged with the murder of Sister Sadie Marchant, whom they put to death with chloroform on August 22. Sister Sadie was suffering from tuberculosis in the Shaker colony at Ashton, and it is said, appealed to the old brother and sister to put her out of her misery.

The county officials are firm in their intention to push the prosecution, as they say the endorsement of this act by the Shakers would be to countenance wholesale murder.

The quiet, calm old Shakers faced the case today with characteristic serenity and seemed to have no doubt that they would be upheld in their contentions.

Blind Tailor Sees After Fifteen Years

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 28. "The little blind tailor of Spruce alley" sat at the window of his ill-furnished room all day today, gazing for the first time in fifteen years at the things of the world as they passed beneath.

"I'm just going to sit here all day," he said, "seeing, seeing, seeing, and thanking God and Dr. Alexander McConachie for the blessing that is mine. Oh, it is wonderful to see again."

Louis Haley had been blind for fifteen years. Great cataracts had formed over his eyes. Doctors told him his sight was gone forever. But Dr. McConachie, knowing better, removed the cataracts from Haley's eyes, and made artificial lenses, which he put into glasses.

When he left the hospital yesterday, Haley was told not to remove the bandage from his eyes for twenty-four hours, but the temptation to see again was too strong. He lifted the bandage for a brief second—and saw the light.

"Thank God, I can see," he shrieked. Today he sat at his window—just seeing.

PUBLICITY MAY SOLVE PROBLEM

Seth Low Urges Airing of Trust Methods as Means of United States Regulation

BEFORE STANLEY COMMITTEE

Says Business Men Are in Favor of Amendments to the Sherman Law

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Publicity as a means of solving the trust problem was discussed today by Seth Low of New York, before the senate committee on interstate commerce.

"I profess I would like to see publicity tried," said Low. "In many businesses safes are guarded not by a watchman but by a light. My idea is that through federal incorporation and federal license the government should require men in interstate business to reveal their affairs to the light."

Low said the civic federation, of which he is president, had sent questions to the members of all sorts of organizations. He submitted answers returned by manufacturers, merchants and bankers, follows:

Whether the Sherman law, as now interpreted, was clear and workable—yes, 192; no, 41.

Should there be a return to competition? Yes, 181; no, 888.

Should the Sherman law be amended? Yes, 585; no, 149.

Should railroad be allowed to enter into agreements on rates? Yes, 975; No, 63.

Should union labor be excepted from the provisions of the Sherman law? Yes, 102; no, 962.

Should combinations of farmers be excepted from the Sherman law? Yes, 209; no, 829.

Should an act be passed providing for national incorporation? Yes, 757; no, 191.

Should a national trade commission be created? Yes, 164; No. 217.

Low praised a feature of the Aldrich central bank plan that he said would enable the farmer in the west to borrow money from a bank at the same rate that was charged to the richest men in New York."

He condemned holding companies as bad influence in the business world.

CARDINALS RECEIVE CONGRATULATIONS

ROME, Nov. 28.—The newly elected American cardinals are busily engaged today in returning the calls of the Italian cardinalate and answering scores of messages of congratulations that are pouring in upon them.

Cardinal Farley is undecided whether he will be able to return to the United States by Christmas.

Cardinals O'Connell and Falconio have not completed their plans for returning to the United States. A 3:30 tomorrow afternoon the red hats will be conferred upon the newly chosen princes of the church. The public consistory will be held Thursday.

GREY DISTURBS MARGET

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The stock market suffered today from the sourness of German press comment on Foreign Minister Sir Edward Grey's speech yesterday concerning Anglo-German relations. The general tenor of the German editorials is that if England waits for Germany to make the first advances towards better relations, the present tension will grow steadily more severe.

SCHUBERT SERVES SUBPOENAS ON FIVE IMPORTANT POLICE CASE WITNESSES

PATTERSON CASE READY FOR JURY

Prosecution Quotes Kipling's "Vampire" in Bitter Attack on Woman Slayer

JUDGE INSTRUCTS THE JURY

Verdict of Murder or Manslaughter Possible; the Court Talks on Reasonable Doubt

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 28.—Within the next twenty-four hours, Mrs. Gertrude Gibson Patterson tried here on charge of killing her husband, will know whether she is to go free or is to be branded as a red-handed murderess.

After Presiding Judge Allen had concluded his instructions at 11:05 a. m. today, Special Prosecutor Benson began his closing statement which he expects will convince the twelve members of the jury that the defendant is guilty. Benson indicated at the outset that he would demand that no leniency be shown the defendant but that she be sent to the gallows.

He took as the "text" of his argument, Kipling's poem, "The Vampire," quoting:

A Fool There Was

"A fool there was and he made his prayer,
"Even as you and I,
"To a rag, a bone, and a hank of hair,
"And the fool he called her his lady fair—
"And she shot him in the back."

He referred to Mrs. Patterson's early life at Sandoval, Ill., and ridiculed the suggestion that she was was an unsophisticated girl when she fell into the hands of Emil Strouss. He painted a picture of Gertrude Gibson, a woman of the world, snaring Charles Patterson, five years her junior, into her net.

"He believed her against her own judgment, against the world, against his own eyes."

The prosecutor dwelt at great length on Patterson's great love for his wife, and declared that whatever he knew of wickedness his wife wife had taught him.

Jury is Instructed

After both sides rested this morning, Judge Allen denied a motion concurred in by both attorney that the jury be allowed to visit the scene of the tragedy, and immediately read his instructions to the jury. Inasmuch as they were practically the same instructions as were read to the jury recently in the case of Mrs. Eleanor Valentine, who was acquitted of murdering her husband, they were regarded as favorable to the defendant. Under them the jury can find a verdict for any degree of murder or manslaughter. The court defined all the various degrees of murder and instructed the jury at considerable length regarding reasonable doubt and the ri of the defendant to have the benefit of any doubt.

Arguments of counsel are expected to be finished this afternoon so the case can go to the jury tonight.

BRIBERY ENTERS M'NAMARA FIGHT

Chief Investigator for the Defense Under Arrest on Bribery Charge

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS?

Said to Have Been Seen Giving $500 to Prospective Juror on Street

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 28.—Bert Franklin, former deputy U. S. marshal here, and now chief investigator for the McNamara defense, was arrested today by Samuel Browne, chief investigator for the prosecution, on charge of attempting to bribe G. N. Lockwood, a prospective juror in the McNamara trial. Browne asserted that he and Detectives Jerko, Ong and Campbell and Holmes saw Franklin pass $500 to Lockwood at the corner of Third and Main streets this morning. Lockwood was also arrested.

A man named "Cap" White, about whom little could be ascertained, was also arrested. The three men were taken to District Attorney Fredrick's office, where they were sweated before being sent to jail to await arraignment.

Counsel for the defense deny that they know anything about the alleged bribery. Attorney Lecompte Davis said Franklin was employed by the defense to investigate the antecedents of talesmen and that was his only connection with the defense.

State's Detective Browne declared that he has known for some time of an attempt to interfere wi talesmen, and that he had been working on the case for several weeks. He insisted that when the whole truth is known it would furnish a sensation paralleling the original arrest of the McNamaras. Mr. Browne further charged that the $500 which, he alleged, was paid to Lockwood, was "earnest money" for the payment of $,4000 to hang the jury.

White and Wood both were released later, District Attorney Fredricks saying there was no formal charge against them, although a formal charge of attempting to bribe a juror was placed against Franklin.

It was also positively asserted in Fredricks' office that other arrests are imminent, being intimated that the person who is alleged to have furnished Franklin the money is under surveillance.

Newspapermen importuned Detective Browne to give them further details of the arrests, but he declined. When asked if it were true that a person prominently connected with the McNamara defense was under surveillance, Browne said: "Wait and see."

The arrests caused an outburst of indignation from Attorney Darrow, who said he considered them part of a plan to influence public sentiment at the outset of the McNamara trial. Darrow pointed out that Lockwood had not been served with a subpoena to appear as a talesman.

DETECTIVES ARE NOW SUSPENDED BY COMMISSION

Order Voted Last Night was Issued Today and Case Is Continued One Week

SCHUBERT SPENDS BUSY DAY

City Attorney Plunged in Task of Perfecting and Arranging Evidence for Trial

Developments of twenty-four hours in the police graft investigation:

City Attorney Schubert serves subpoenas on five resort keepers wanted as witnesses against the accused detectives.

Board of fire and police commissioners meets and votes to suspend Yolton and McGrath.

Order of suspension issued this afternoon.

Commission grants Schubert's request for a continuance, adjourning the hearing for one week from tonight.

The commission met at 5 o'clock last evening and was in session but a few moments, the meeting being executive. It is said there was practically no debate, and that the vote to grant both Mr. Schubert's requests was unanimous. The president and secretary were authorized to issue the order of suspension. It is announced that, under the rule laid down by the statute, the men will continue to draw pay until the trial is concluded.

Suspensions Served

Colonel Woodard sent the official notices of the suspension of Yolton and McGrath to police headquarters today with directions that they be served as soon as the men appeared for duty.

Tonight the commission will hold a meeting at the hour set for the trial, and will formally grant the continuance asked for by Mr. Schubert and decided upon at the meeting last evening. It is understood the meeting will then be immediately adjourned, no other business coming before it.

To Safeguard Evidence

The witnesses upon whom subpoenas were served were Rose Vermon, "Doc" Bennett, Hattie Bowker, Sadie Stone and Anna Hartley, all of the Jay street district.

It is understood that Mr. Schubert hastened to issue the subpoenas today in order to interfere with any of the women who may have contemplated "taking a vacation." Since the warrants have been issued the witnesses cannot leave without rendering themselves liable to a prison sentence for contempt of court.

However, this was a mere precaution, as the authorities believe, now that these women know that Chief is in full command, that they will feel greater security than at any time since the trouble started, and that therefore they will gladly tell what they know and assist the officials in the investigation.

Gets Important Evidence

While details of the evidence secured have not been given out for publication, it is asserted that Mr. Schubert has a great deal of astounding information in his possession. That this is true is indicated, it is said, by the fact that he is preparing for a lengthy trial in which it is expected several days will be consumed in the taking of testimony.

Chief Webber is somewhat better today but is not well enough to appear at his office.

Schubert Hard at Work

This was Mr. Schubert's busy day. The city attorney, beside serving the subpoenas, plunged into the work of systematizing his evidence and arranging to amend the charges. He also interviewed a number of witnesses.

CATTLE RATES SUSPENDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—A setback was given a movement for general increased railroad rates on cattle, planned by western railroads, when the interstate commerce commission today suspended until April 11, pending investigation, new tariffs filed by the Santa Fe, Chicago & Northwestern and other lines. Mrs. Eckhoff declared a man posing as a detective endeavored to induce her to go to Los Angeles and when she refused, sought to entice her from the house to answer a telephone call in the neighborhood. Mrs. Eckhoff asserts she has not the slightest idea as to the whereabouts of her husband, all mail from him coming through the Burns detective offices in Chicago.

MURDER AVENGES WOMAN'S WRONGS

Wealthy Real Estate Man of Cleveland Shot to Death on the Street

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 28.—Coming from Lawrence, Mass., to avenge herself on the man whom she alleged had ruined her, a woman giving the name of Mrs. Rose Dvorkin today shot down and killed Jacbo Horovitz, a wealthy real estate dealer, on the street here. The woman was instantly seized and disarmed by persons near the scene of the shooting. She had fired but one shot but Horovitz was dead when picked up and carried into a nearby drug store.

On being turned over to the police, Mrs. Dvorkin showed not the slightest remorse for her act. Horovitz was married and had a family. Mrs. Horovitz was passing near where her husband was shot when he fell to the sidewalk but was led away by friends.

The cause of the shooting, the police say the woman told them, lay in the development of a friendship that began when she was a young girl. She was married when she was 18, but declared Horovitz continued his attentions.

Four months ago, the woman told the police, her husband came to Cleveland, met Horovitz and learned the story of her youth. For three months a quarrel raged between herself and her husband. Then she decided to start for Cleveland and avenge what she called her wrong.

The woman is small and frail. She gave her age as 30 and says she is the mother of four children. The police say she readily confessed to the shooting, then coolly showed them how to remove the cartridges remaining in her revolver. She told the police she followed Horovitz for two days before finding an opportunity to shoot him.

ADVISES GUARDING QUARANTINE CASES

Breaker of Confinement Order Becomes Spreader of Death and Disease; Thanksgiving Hints

Declaring that if a quarantine is broken the offender becomes a spreader of disease and death—in other words a murderer—and urging the public to observe quarantine strictly, the Chicago health department's bulletin contains an interesting article on the dangers of contagion which is applicable here.

Included in the bulletin are some exceptionally good Thanksgiving day hints which deal with the "unusual gastronomic stunts" of the day and several diphtheria aphorisms.

Accompanying the bulletin is a cartoon depicting the results of breaking quarantine. Surrounding the reading matter declaring the spreader of contagion a murderer appear pictures in which are shown a man, woman and child leaving a scarlet fever infected house and their progress. A final picture shows the open gates of a cemetery, which many hearses are approaching.

Don't Eat Too Much

In regard to Thanksgiving day the booklet asserts that most of the people eat too much at that time. It is claimed that pneumonia is contracted by a large number of people, who, after eating a big dinner, lie down in a hot stuffy room to sleep. That it is a dangerous practice to sleep in a hot and underventilated room is always harmful but that is especially bad after eating a heavy meal is the assertion of the booklet.

"Our advice, therefore, to the Thanksgiving day feaster is to practice moderation in eating and drinking," continues the article. "If you overindulge or feel drowsy after the feast don't lie down to 'sleep it off,' but get out in the open air and 'walk it off.'"

The diphtheria aphorisms are as follows:

To keep the undertakers busy, neglect the "simple sore throats."

Why die from diphtheria? It is unnecessary.

Diphtheria delay—Death.

Spare the cure, kill the child.

Diphtheria's worst enemy is anti-toxin; its best friend, tomorrow.

If in doubt, use anti-toxin. Better be safe than sorry.

Poverty excuses no one. The cure is free. Ask health department early. Open day and night.

In concluding the article the bulletin remarks:

"The little that some 'thrifty' persons keep from the doctor they give the undertaker—and 'then some.'"

Real Wrinkle Remover A New Sensation

(Broadway Weekly)

Those scowling lines between the eyes, the crowsfeet radiating from the eye corners, the worry lines that mar the forehead, the lines extending from the mouth corners, whether produced by mirth or sorrow—all can be easily and quickly dispersed, no matter how deep or obstinate. Just stir an ounce of saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel, bathe the face in the solution—then look at yourself in your mirror! You can't help exclaiming, "Will wonders never cease!"

Evidently this saxolite lotion has created something of a sensation since the formula became known in this country a short while ago. Its effectiveness in removing wrinkles and sagginess, together with its simplicity of preparation, harmlessness and inexpensiveness, form a long-sought combination. Almost any druggist can supply saxolite in powdered form, which dissolves instantly.

Not Bleached

That creamy-white flour in Gold Medal bags is just as Nature made it.

No chemicals have touched it—

The flour is not bleached.

But that flour, Mrs. Housewife, is just the heart of choice wheat.

It isn't the whole flour—

It's the cream of the flour.

It is sifted ten times, through ten sheets of fine silk, to pick out the daintiest particles.

That's the secret of it.

When you simply say "flour" you are likely to get the cream mixed with the rest.

To get the cream only, say "Gold Medal Flour." It costs you nothing extra.

Then you get the flour which has come to outsell every other flour in existence.

If you paid $10 a sack for it, no man could supply you a choicer flour than this.

CARY'S TANGENT IS MOST UNFORTUNATE

"It is strange indeed to see the State Superintendent of Schools array himself against the state university in the manner in which Mr. Carey has done in his recently published letter," says the Racine Times.

"There is of course, some animus back of this attack by the state superintendent. It is not the first time that he has arrayed himself against the university and someone who knows the facts should expose the 'nigger in the woodpile.'

"Wisconsin has the best state university in the country. It is so recognized by educators the world over. It has taken a prominent part in the development of the state and has graduated many of the men who have become prominent in its affairs. It is gradually extending its usefulness into the lives and homes of all the citizens and instead of having the opposition should have the support of the State Superintendent of Schools.

"The charge Mr. Cary has made that the university is attempting to run the state and if not stopped will accomplish its purpose is childish and puerile. To base this charge upon the fact that the university officials desired to establish a few fellowships in connection with some of the technical and statistical work of state commissions is wholly unwarranted and silly.

"It is true that the state university has aided in the work of preparing some of the more important laws of the state and in this work alone it has done incalculable service to the people. The public utilities law is one of those it helped to formulate and it has proven to be one of the most useful pieces of legislation ever passed by the legislature.

"If Mr. Carey will devote his time to the work of improving the primary schools of the state and to elevating the standard of its teaching force he will find ample work to do and will have less time to engage in carping criticism of the university and its officials."

We are obliged to brother Goodland for a timely word on an important subject. We see our univity commended by the great educators of all nations as the ideal institution, their approval based upon the very features which Mr. Cary condemns. We see Kansas preparing to emulate the work of President Van Hise. We see the splendid fruits of the university's work in our own state, and its reflection in national government reform.

And then we hear Mr. Cary, state superintendent of public schools of Wisconsin, wasting his energies in a malevolent attack upon the university, an assault the nature of which suggests that it differs little in nature, if indeed it does in purpose, from the onslaught of the water power men and other special interests.

Mr. Goodland suggests that Mr. Carey has plenty of work to do in the department for superintending which he draws his salary. True, for WE HAVE NOT HEARD THAT THE COMMON SCHOOLS OF WISCONSIN ENJOY THE REPUTATION OF BEING MODELS FOR OTHER STATES.

ACTUAL STARVATION

Facts About Indigestion and Its Relief That Should Interest You

Although Indigestion and Dyspepsia are so prevalent, most people do not thoroughly understand their cause and cure. There is no reason why most people should not eat anything they desire—if they will only chew it carefully and thoroughly. Many actually starve themselves into sickness through fear of eating every good-looking, good-smelling, and good-tasting food, because it does not agree with them.

The best thing to do is to fit yourself to digest any good food.

We believe we can relieve Dyspepsia. We are so confident of this fact that we guarantee and promise to supply the medicine free of all cost to every one who will use it, who is not perfectly satisfied with the results which it produces. We exact no promises, and put no one under any obligation whatever. Surely, nothing could be fairer. We are located right here and our reputation should be sufficient assurance of the genuineness of our offer.

We want every one troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia in any form to come to our store and buy a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Take them home and give them a reasonable trial, according to directions. Then, if not satisfied, come to us and get your money back. They are very pleasant to take; they aid to soothe the irritable stomach, to strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, and to promote a healthy and natural bowel action, thus leading to perfect and healthy digestion and assimilation.

A 25c. package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets furnishes 15 days' treatment. In ordinary cases, this is sufficient to produce a cure. In more chronic cases, a longer treatment, of course, is necessary, and depends upon the severity of the trouble. For such cases, we have two larger sizes which sell for 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. O. T. Eberhart

THE OLD SUBSCRIBER

The old subscriber was talking
About the paper he read—
For years he had been reading,
And this is what he said;
"It's like a friend that comes around
Day after day to tell
What's going on that I don't know,
And couldn't very well
Unless it did, and when by chance
I miss it for a day,
For papers, like some other things,
Sometimes will go astray.
I feel as though I'd missed a meal,
Or didn't know just what
It was that wasn't going right,
Or hadn't reached the spot.
But when I get it, down I set
And go for all the news
Of markets, politics and crime
And matrimonial stews
And baseball and the other sports
And advertisements, too,
And churches and society—
And when I've read them through,
By heck, now don't you laugh at me,
I read them poet things,
That like the kittle on the stove
Gets warm before it sings.
Sometimes they splutter up a bit,
Sometimes they ain't so bad.
Sometimes they don't have anything
I kinder wish they had;
Sometimes they hit the very spot,
Sometimes they make me cry,
Sometimes they make me laugh out loud,
And sometimes on the sly,
But, good or bad, I read them all
And when they don't fit me,
I have a feel that somewhere else
Somebody else can see
What ain't quite plain to what I sense,
But anyhow it's clear
The good Lord knowed His business when
He sent them poets here.
That's what I think and feel and say
And you may laugh at me,
But mebbe you had better laugh
Somewhere where I can't see."
—W. J. LAMPTON.

He Wouldn't Spoil Business

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, at a dinner in Washington, discussed those experts who would urge the brewers of America to make beer out of cabbage leaves.

"The cabbage leaf beer advocate," said Dr. Wiley, "cares nothing, it is evident, for the welfare of the human stomach. His attitude is exactly that of a man in black I saw the other day.

"As this man in black was walking along one of our streets, a beggar whined piteously in his ear:

"'Would you give a poor feller a dime to save his life, boss?"

"'Certainly not!' the man in black replied. 'Certainly not! I'm an undertaker, sir.'"—Detroit Free Press.

Diaz Knew the Difference

An American engineer from Mexico City was talking about President Diaz.

"Diaz has a dry humor," he said. "Mexico, however, is not a dry land. They drink pulque there, a drink made from the cactus, which looks like milk and tastes like vinegar. Three glasses of pulque will make a Sunday class superintendent walk thirty miles through a blizzard to murder his wife and children.

"No, Mexico is not dry. One day a Mexican statesman arrived at President Diaz's an hour late for luncheon. He apologized in a thick voice.

"'The fault,' he said, 'lies with my automobile.'

"'But, friend,' said Diaz, 'don't you know that an automobile is run by gasoline, not by alcohol?'"—Los Angeles Times.

Must Have Been

Miss Leonora O'Reilly in a suffrage address in New York said:

"The more intelligent a man is the more respect he has, I find, for the intelligence of woman. Intelligent men hesitate to say that women are their mental inferiors. But stupid men—dear me!"

Miss O'Reilly smiled.

"The conceit of the stupid man reminds me of Sandy McPherson. Sandy in a Peebles public house told an Englishman that all the great poets were Scotch.

"'But how about Shakespeare?' cried the Englishman. 'Can you say he was Scotch?'

"'His talents,' was the reply, 'would justify that supposition.'"—Washington Star.

Purely British

Capt. Hardress Lloyd, the English polo player, was talking about international marriages, says the Baltimore News.

"Really, you know," he said, "it isn't true that all the titled husbands of American girls are scoundrels. I sometimes think that you Americans, especially those of you that hail from Chicago, are too hard on our poor marquises and earls. A Chicagoan, I understand, was being shown through a New York picture gallery by his nephew. He paused before a striking portrait.

"'That, uncle,' the nephew explained, 'is a portrait of Napoleon Bonaparte—the man the duke of Wellington got the best of.'

"The uncle frowned and said angrily: 'Dum them foreign noblemen! How much did he lend him?'"

A Close Shave

Kansas people may not believe it, but former Senator W. A. Peffer once threatened to cut off his whiskers. And the threat was made while he represented the state in the senate.

Two men were riding in an elevator in the senate end of the capitol building at Washington. One was a warm friend of Peffer. The other just knew him by sight. They began to talk of Peffer. The man who had no personal acquaintance with Peffer remarked that the long whiskered senator was not conducting himself in a manner consistent with a prohibition state.

"What do you mean?" asked the other, in surprise.

"Simply that Peffer drinks," said the man. "I saw him take a nip at a hotel bar myself today."

The friend challenged the statement, but the man stood pat. He was absolutely sure of it.

Finally the friend went to Peffer and said: "Senator, I defended you against a serious charge a few minutes ago and now I want you to tell me the truth. I challenged the statement of a man who said he saw you take a drink of liquor today."

The senator shrugged his shoulders, looked sorrowfully down at his long whiskers and remarked: "Col. Ed Manning must either cut off his whiskers or I will cut off mine." Col. Manning cropped his.—Kansas City Journal.

SUFFERING FROM ECZEMA

Unnecessary While Poslam, the Perfect Remedy, Quickly Heals

Eczema, that many-formed skin malady, which authorities assert is usually caused by a disordered diet, never proves fatal and is generally found in those who are otherwise healthy. Poslam has probably accomplished more remarkable cures of this and other skin diseases than any remedy known. It is applied directly upon the disorder, stops itching at once and clears and heals the skin, restoring it to perfect condition. The great majority of cases yield in from two to four weeks. Acne, tetter, barbers' itch and similar aggravating troubles are likewise speedily cured.

Merely a small quantity of Poslam used for clearing the complexion, removing eruptions, pimples, rashes and blemishes is sufficient to show what it can do. Poslam is sold for 50 cents by Chas. A. Beyschlag, C. N. Euler, Hebberd & Co., and all druggists everywhere. For free sample write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th St., New York City.

Poslam Soap, medicated with Poslam is the best soap for your skin. Antiseptic, prevents infection. Large vake, 25 cents.

Overheard in Court

Jimpsonberry and Harkaway had been hauled up before the court for speeding.

"Fifty dollars apiece," said the judge. "All the evidence before this here bench goes to prove that you fellers was racin' along at fifty miles an hour."

"But, judge," protested Jimpsonberry, "my car can't possibly go more than thirty miles an hour."

"And the limit of mine is thirty-five," pleaded Harkaway.

"Wa-al—s'posin, it is?" demanded the judge. "Thirty and thirty-five comes to sixty-five, don't it? By Gorry, I'll add a dollar on to the fines of both of ye."—Harper's Weekly.

COFFEE HEART

As Dangerous as the Tobacco or Whiskey Heart

"Coffee heart" is common to many coffee users and is liable to send the owner to his or her long home if the drug is persisted in. You can run 30 or 40 yards and find out if your heart is troubled. A lady who was once a victim of the "coffee heart" writes from Oregon:

"I have been a habitual user of coffee all my life and have suffered very much in recent years from ailments which I became satisfied were directly due to the poison in the beverage, such as torpid liver and indigestion, which in turn made my complexion blotchy and muddy.

"Then my heart became affected. It would beat most rapidly just after I drank my coffee, and go below normal as the coffee effect wore off. Sometimes my pulse would go as high as 137 beats to the minute. My family were greatly alarmed at my condition and at last mother persuaded me to begin the use of Postum.

"I gave up coffee entirely and absolutely, and made Postum my sole table beverage. This was 6 months ago, and all my ills, the indigestion, inactive liver and rickety heart action, have passed away, and my complexion has become clear and natural. The improvement set in very soon after I made the change, just as soon as the coffee poison had time to work out of my system.

"My husband has also been greatly benefitted by the use of Postum, and we find that a simple breakfast with Postum is as satisfying and more strengthening than the old heavier meal we used to have with coffee."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a Reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

The Prodigal Judge

The Famous Novel by Vaughan Kester

Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"What was it about Mr. Slosson's hide, Uncle Bob?" demanded Hannibal. "What was you a-goin' to do to that?"

"Why, Nevvy, after he beat me up and throwed me in the river, I was some peevish fo' a spell in my feelings fo' him," said Yancy, in a tone of gentle regret. He glanced at his bruised hand. "But I'm right pleased to be able to say that I've got over all them uncharitable thoughts of mine."

"And you seen the judge, Uncle Bob?" questioned Hannibal.

"Yes, I've seen the judge. We was together fo' part of a day. Me and him gets on fine."

"Where is he now, Uncle Bob?"

"I reckon he's back at Belle Plain by this time. You see we left him in Raleigh along after noon to 'tend to some business he had on hand. I never seen a gentleman of his weight so truly spry on his legs—and all about you, Nevvy; while as to mind! Sho'—why, words flowed out of him as naturally as water out of a branch."

Of Hannibal's relationship to the judge he said nothing. He felt that was a secret to be revealed by the judge himself when he should see fit.

"Uncle Bob, who'm I going to live with now?" questioned Hannibal anxiously.

"That p'int's already come up, Nevvy—him and me's decided that there won't be no friction. You-all will just go on living with him."

"But what about you, Uncle Bob?" cried Hannibal, lifting a wistful face to Yancy's.

"Oh, well—you-all will go right on living with me."

"And what will come of Mr. Mahaffy?"

"I reckon you-all will go right on living with him, too."

"Uncle Bob, you mean you reckon we are all going to live in one house?"

"I 'low it will have to be fixed that-a-ways," agreed Yancy.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

The Judge Receives a Letter.

After he had parted with Solomon Mahaffy the judge applied himself diligently to shaping that miracle-working document which he was preparing as an offset to whatever risk he ran in meeting Fentress. As sanguine as he was sanguinary he confidently expected to survive the encounter, yet it was well to provide for a possible emergency—had he not his grandson's future to consider? While thus occupied he saw the afternoon stage arrive and depart from before the City Tavern.

Half an hour later Mr. Wesley, the postmaster, came sauntering up the street. In his hand he carried a letter.

"Howdy," he drawled, from just beyond the judge's open door.

The judge glanced up, his quill pen poised aloft.

'Good evening sir; won't you step inside and be seated?" he asked graciously. His dealings with the United States mail service were of the most insignificant description, and in personally delivering a letter, if this was what had brought him there, he felt Mr. Wesley had reached the limit of official courtesy and despatch.

"Well, sir, it looks like you'd never told us more than two-thirds of the truth!" said the postmaster. He surveyed the judge curiously.

"I am complimented by your your opinion of my veracity," responded that gentleman promptly. "I consider two- thirds an enormously high per cent. to have achieved."

"There is something in that, too," agreed Mr. Wesley. "Who is Colonel Slocum Price Turberville?"

The judge started up from his chair.

"I have that honor," said he, bowing.

"Well, here's a letter come in addressed like that, and as you've been using part of the name I was willing to assume you're legally entitled to the rest of it. It clears up a point that off and on has troubled me considerable. I can only wonder I wa'n't smarter."

"What point, may I ask?"

"Why, about the time you hung out your shingle here, some one wrote a letter to General Jackson. It was mailed after night, and when I seen it in the morning I was clean beat. I couldn't locate the handwriting, and yet I kept that letter back a couple of days and give it all my spare time. It ain't that I'm one of your spying sort—there's nothing of the Yankee about me!"

"Certainly not," agreed the judge.

"Candid, judge, I reckon you wrote that letter, seeing this one comes under a frank from Washington. No, sir—I couldn't make out who was corresponding with the president, and it worried me, not knowing, more than anything I've had to contend against since I came into office. I calculate there ain't a postmaster in the United States takes a more personal interest in the service than me. I've frequently set patrons right when they was in doubt as to the date they had mailed such and such a letter." As Mr. Wesley sometimes canceled as many as three or four stamps in a single day he might have been pardoned his pride in a brain which thus lightly dealt with the burden of official business. He surrendered the letter with marked reluctance.

"Your surmise is correct," said the judge with dignity. "I had occasion to write my friend, General Jackson, and unless I am greatly mistaken I have my answer here." And with a fine air of indifference he tossed the letter on the table.

"And do you know Old Hickory?" cried Mr. Wesley.

"Why not? Does it surprise you?" inquired the judge. It was only his innate courtesy which restrained him from kicking the postmaster into the street, so intense was his desire to be rid of him.

"No, I don't as it does, judge. Naturally a public man like him is in the way of meeting with all sorts. A politician can't afford to be too blame particular. Well, next time you write you might just send him my regards—G. W. M. de L. Wesley's regards—there was considerable contention over my getting this office; I reckon he ain't forgot. There was speeches made, I understand the lie was passed between two United States senators, and that a quid of tobacco was throwed in anger." Having thus clearly established the fact that he was a more or less national character, Mr. Wesley took himself off.

When he had disappeared from sight down the street, the judge closed the door. Then he picked up the letter. For a long minute he held it in his hand, uncertain, fearful, while his mind slipped back into the past until his inward searching vision ferreted out a handsome soldierly figure—his own.

"That's what ackson remembers if he remembers anything!" he muttered, as with trembling fingers he broke the seal. Almost instantly a smile overspread his battered features. He hitched his chin higher and squared his ponderous shoulders. "I am not forgotten—no, damn it—no!" he exulted under his breath. "Recalls me with sincere esteem and considers my service to the country as well worthy of recognition—" the judge breathed deep. What would Mahaffy find to say now! Certainly this was well calculated to disturb the sour cynicism of his friend. His bleared eyes brimmed. After all his groping he had touched hands with the realities at last! Even a federal judgeship, though not aJn office of first repute in the south, had its dignity—it signified something! He would make Solomon his clerk! The judge reached for his hat. Mahaffy must know at once that fortune had mended for them. Why, at that moment he was actually in receipt of an income!

He sat down, the better to enjoy the unique sensation. Taxes were being levied and collected with no other end in view than his stipend—his ardent fancy saw the whole machinery of government in operation for his benefit. It was a singular feeling he experienced. Then promptly his spendthrift brain became active. He neded clothes—so did Mahaffy—so did his grandson; they must take a larger house; he would buy himself a man servant; these were pressing necessities as he now viewed them.

GOOD REASONS

For Demanding the Original Remedy, Newbro's Herpicide

If you knew it, you would not willingly accept counterfeit money. Instead you would probably raise a disturbance and seek some means of redress.

Why then accept a preparation said to be "just as good as Newbro's Herpicide?" You know it is a counterfeit, an imitation of the real thing. You want the original dandruff germ destroyer, Herpicide, and you can get it, too, if you insist.

Redress is always possible in such an instance. The most effective method is to trade where you get what you ask for and no suggestions offered.

With the death of the dandruff germ the hair stops falling and is permitted to resume its natural growth and beauty. Such results follow the use of Newbro's Herpicide. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

A counterfeit article is never "just as good." Herpicide is sold and guaranteed by all druggists.

Applicantions may be obtained at all good barber shops and hair dressers.

Send 10c in postage for sample and booklet on the care of the hair to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. Hoeschler Bros., special agents.

W. B. U. WILL GIVE BIG DANCE TONIGHT

The W. B. U. alumni will give their last annual Thanksgiving dance tonight at the W. B. U. Assembly hall. Dancing will commence at 8 o'clock sharp and will continue until 1 o'clock. Kreutz will furnish the music and has promised to do his best. The hall will be decorated in the school colors, crimson and gold, and other touches will be given in an endeavor to bring everything up to the standard set in the past. In anticipation of a record-breaking crowd the students have planned to remove every table from the big hall. This will give them nearly a third more dancing room.

Leters and telephone calls from old students are being received daily and everyone is promising to come and bring a good time with them.

The W. B. U. club will hold its next meeting Thursday, December 14, to plan the annual Christmas banquet and ball which will probably be given December 21.

Tomorrow is the last day of school until next Monday noon. Owing to the fact that many of the students come from cities three hundred and five hundred miles distant, quite a few are already leaving to get a piece of real turkey.

THREE DAYS LEFT TO PERFECT APPEAL

But three more days, including today, remain to Olaf Larson, saloonkeeper at 801 Rose street, to appeal the decision of Judge Higbee to the Wisconsin supreme court. According to a ruling of Judge Higbee, the appeal must be made by December 1, or the saloon will immediately be closed.

Attorneys W. F. and A. C. Wolfe today declared that they had not been authorized so far to make the appeal.

Judge Higbee's decision in the case was that the license granted to Larson was illegal, because his was a new location that had not been used for a saloon prior to 1907. If the case is appealed, it will come before the supreme court some time during the winter. In the meantime, Larson can keep his place open upon the payment of a bond.

NELSONS LEAD IN BIG TOURNAMENT

Take Three Straight Games from Old Styles in Contest on Combination Alleys

By winning three successive games from the Old Styles last night the Nelson bowlers crept again into the lead over the Painters. The Nelsons and the Painters have been neck and neck since the start of the season. It is expected that they will keep the lead over the Painters only until the last of the week, when the Painters meet the Premiums. The dope is that the Painters will win all three of the games against the Premiums and regain their lead. The big game comes next week, when the two aggregations that are battling for the leadership will get together.

RHEUMATISM TAKES BIG DROP

Widespread Adoption of New Cure Puts Immediate Check on Present Spread of Rheumatism

The crusade against the serious spread of rheumatism in this section has had its effect. In nearly all the important towns of the state a concerted movement was begun to stamp out the disease, by the wide publication of the best known means of curing rheumatism, quickly and surely.

As an illustration of the astonishing results secured by the new treatment, which has been so widely recommended, out of one thousand serious cases noted, every single one has already been cured. These results have been carefully verified.

It was certain that some treatment had to be recommended. Which one, was the question.

Actual results had to govern, regardless of reputation or favoritism. The record above mentioned was accomplished by the new treatment, "Fuss" Rheumatism Cure. This remedy is different from anything else ever prepared for rheumatism. It contains no alcohol, opium, cocaine, morphine, chloral, chloroform, or other poisonous drugs contained in the great majority of patent medicines.

We earnestly recommend all our readers who may suffer from rheumatism, gout, lumbago or kidney trouble not to fail to try this remedy.

AFRAID OF BARBER

ONTARIO, Wis., Nov. 28.—"Jimtown," near this place, boasts of a man, Mart Maran, who has never patronized a barber shop in his life, although he has attained the mature age of 55. He has often thought he would allow a barber to shave him, and has many times gone into a shop with the avowed purpose of delivering himself into the tender mercies of a barber, but always when his turn came he would become very nervous and take a hasty departure. He always has a bad case of 'cold feet" when he sees people getting shaved, and declares that it makes him very nervous to watch the operations of a razor. He has, however, performed this duty for himself.

Bowels are Basis of Child Health

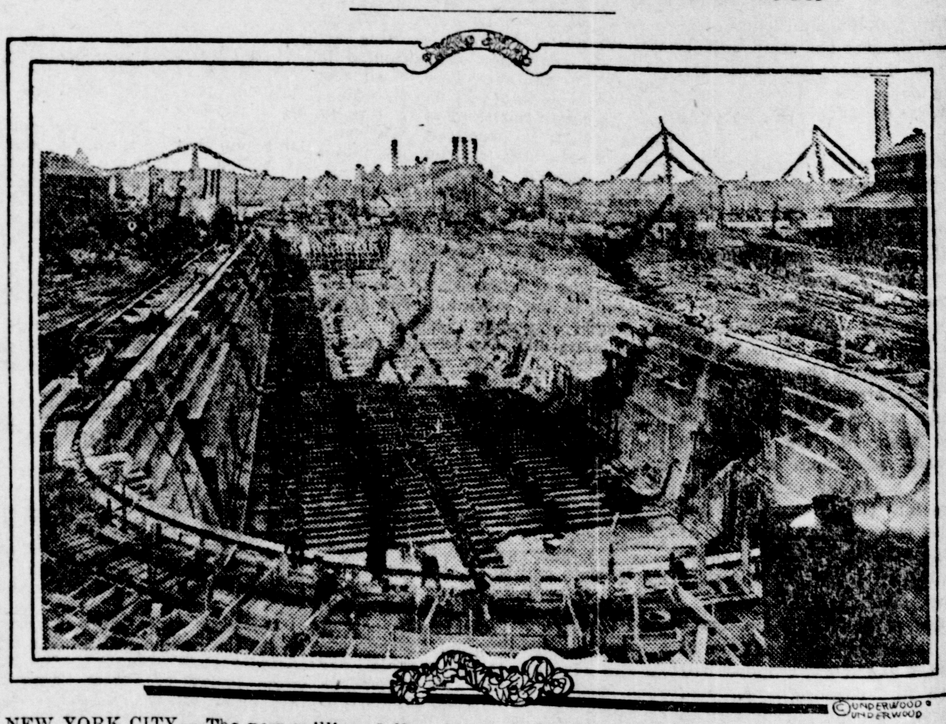

The careful mother, who watches closely the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with a child's constant good health is to keep the bowels regularly open. Sluggish bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder.

At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally.

This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics, laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. Evelyn Matson, 516 Milwaukee St., Milwaukee, Wis., and Mrs. Kate Hawley, Waukesha, Wis., are always supplied with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative, for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

TAFT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS READY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—President Taft at a cabinet meeting today went over to his advisors for the last time the text of his annual message to congress. The manuscript of 6,000 words was sent to the printer yesterday, and the proofs were received at the White House last night.

The length of the message is about one-fourth that of last year's message. For the sake of keeping the message within a reasonable space, several important topics have been reserved for special messages at later dates. Federal incorporation legislation and the tariff are the chief subjects discussed in the message aside from the regular departments.

SIR GREY'S SPEECH AWAKES HOSTILITY

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The consensus of opinion here today is that the speech delivered yesterday before the house of parliament by Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, indicates that Grey and his anti-German associates are determined to steer the ship of state in the teeth of liberal opinion.

There is a general feeling of resentment against the policy outlined by Sir Edward which simply marshals the nations of Europe into hostile camps. It was significant that during Sir Edwards remarks on the Moroccan situation the speaker was vigorously applauded by the Tories and the liberals sat in frigid silence.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Rose Dworkin, of Lawrence, Mass., who yesterday shot and killed Jacob Horovitz on the street here, because she said he had broken up her home, was arraigned in police court today on a charge of first degree murder.

The woman has made a complete confession, say the police, pleading justification for her deed. She declares she does not care for a lawyer and is resigned to whatever punishment is inflicted.

Mrs. Dworkin asserts her home was broken up when Horovitz told her husband of their relations during the early period f the Dworkins' married life.

"I thought I had lived that down," the woman said today, "and for him to drag the story out again, ruined my home, and I wanted to ruin his."

To Remove Blotchy Muddy or Sallow Skin

(From Beauty and Health)

To remove sallowness, muddiness, freckles, blotches or any complexion difficulty, the best thing to do is to remove the skin itself. This is easily, painlessly and inexpensively done by the application of ordinary mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store. The wax absorbs the defective outer skin, a little each day, gradually bringing the cutis or second layer of skin to the surface. The pores are unclogged and the face breathes in the life-giving oxygen. The new skin is beautifully soft and white, bearing the healthy glow of youth.

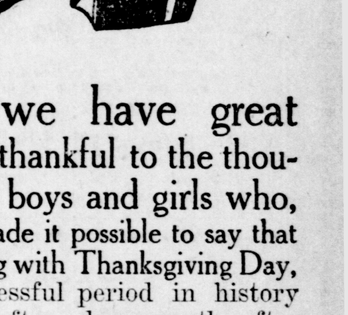

Just apply the wax as you would cold cream, only not rubbing it in. In the morning wash it off with warm water. It's the most effective treatment I know of for blackheads, pimples, moth patches and liver spots.

LONG SESSION OF CONGRESS COMING

Champ Clark Predicts Much Work for Law Makers Next Month

ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION

Amendments to Sherman and Interstate Commerce Laws Are Predicted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—A long gruelling session of congress was forecasted today by Speaker Champ Clark who returned to his desk in the capitol after a three months' absence.

Anti-trust legislation, tariff legislation, amendments to the interstate commerce law, anti-injunction legislation, automatic workmen's compensation and legislation defining the powers of the courts in contempt cases were a few of the subjects that Clark advanced as likely to occupy the time of the house.

Clark asserted that he had never favored "forcible annexation" of Canada, and that any such statement was "false and preposterous." He said he favored "union by mutual consent" adding: "But the Canadians are opposed, so that's the end of it."

"It looks to me at this time," he said, "as if we would be here far into next summer. If President Taft had not vetoed the tariff bills, we could get away much earlier. Now we will have to go over all that ground again."

"What do you think of the chances for amendments to the anti-trust law?" Clark was asked.

"There will undoubtedly be an attempt made to pass amendments," said he. "But I believe that it is the clearest statute ever passed. The men who framed that law were some of the best lawyers who ever sat in the senate, and I think they knew their business.

"There will undoubtedly be a big demand for amendments to the interstate commerce law. The people have the idea that the interstate commerce commission and the new commerce court are working at cross purposes, and they want the situation cleared up.

"Then this question of contempt of court must be settled. Lawyers have been arguing for 200 years about the right of a court to impose a penalty for contempts committed outside of the presence of the court. Laws regulating the use of the injunction, and a statute providing automatic compensation of workmen will also occupy some time."

The speaker declared that so far he had nothing to do with the situation which confronts the Stanley steel committee. He asserted that under a literal interpretation of the Stanley resolution, the committee would have the power to continue its investigations, despite the filing of the dissolution suit against the trusts.

FELLOWSHIP MEET AT ST. PAUL CHURCH

In spite of the snow storm of last evening a large audience greeted the Rev. Dr. Shutter, pastor of th Church of The Redeemer of Minneapolis, when he spoke at the St. Paul's Universalist church. Rev. Dr. Shutter spoke during one of the Fellowship Meetings which are now in progress at that church. He will speak again this evening at eight o'clock. Rev. T. B. Fisher, northwest superintendent of the Universalist church, will speak tomorrow evening and again Thursday morning, delivering the annual Thanksgiving sermon. There will be no services in the church Thursday evening. Rev. Mr. Fisher will speak again Friday evening. The meetings are drawing large crowds and a cordial invitation is extended to the public.

O. C. C. MEETS TONIGHT

An important meeting of the O. C. C. of the Y. W. C. A. is to be held at the association building tonight, at which plans will be made for the observance of Thanksgiving. A committee has been appointed consisting of the Misses Magdalene Harmacek, chairman; Petra Peterson, Helen Peterson and Alla Phelps.

DANCE SEASON IS ON IN FULL SWING

With the approach of Thanksgiving the dance season proper starts in La Crosse. During the remainder of the week there will be twelve dances.

The tudents of the W. B. U. will give a dance at the W. B. U. hall tonight. The Royal Neighbors and the B. A. Y. will give private dances tonight.

Tomorow night there will be four ore dances, the Mader orchestra giving a dance at Linker's hall, the Daughters of Rebecca giving a dance at the newly remodeled hall of the Woodmen on South Fourth street, the Klatter Klub giving a private dance at the Rose Street Union hall on the North side, and the Owl club will dance at Bohemian hall.

Thanksgiving night will be celebrated by the barbers who will give their annual ball at Linker's hall, the F. R. A. dance at K. of P. hall, and the high school will make merry until midnight at the Elks' hall.

A private dance will be given by several North side girls at the Rose Street Union hall Friday night, and Mader's orchestra will return and give a dance at Linker's hall on Saturday.

START XMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN HERE

Committees to Use Every Agency Possible to Dispose of Anti-Tuberculosis Stamps

LETTER TO BUSINESS MEN

Funds Realized to Go Towards Securing a Visiting Nurse for Local Schools

The campaign against tuberculosis was begun yesterday when E. S Hebberd, John Kindley and Professor L. P. Benezet started in on the sale of the Christmas seals which are to raise money for the fund to fight the white plague. Success was met with by the men yesterday and the work will be kept up until the holiday season is over.

Dr. J. M. Furstman and J. L. Utermoehl form another committee and it is their plan to visit the various business houses in the city to get aid from them and they are sure of being successful in their campaign.

Another meeting of the committee is scheduled for tomorrow morning when plans for the mailing of a circular letter will be laid. This letter is to be mailed to those who the committee is unable to reach personally and seals will be enclosed in the communication together with a request that the recipient respond to the call.

The letter is as follows:

"To the business men of La Crosse:

"The most prominent people of the state and nation are actively interested in the Christmas Seal Sale movement, the proceeds of which are judicially used in stamping out the most deadly disease known to mankind, tuberculosis.

"That the citizens of La Crosse appreciate the duty every man owes to his community, to his family and to himself, to aid in the eradication of this contagious disease, is attested by your financial aid during the past three years.

"As has been customary, one-half of the amount realized by the Seal Sale will be turned over to the State Anti-Tuberculosis association, while the other half remains in the city to be used in the interests of the home campaign.

"This year it is the intention of the committee to devote the proceeds of the sale of the stamps to the engaging of a trained nurse, a long cherished plan which has been under consideration for some time, but which failed of consummation because of the fact that the drain on the city's finances has been so great that it was considered unwise to ask for the necessary funds.

"A visiting school nurse is but a step closer to the establishment of an open air school in La Crosse, another link in the chain which will tend to greatly improve the health conditions of our city.

"Will you not, therefore, aid us in this great work, in the interests of those who are weak and in ill health in the interests of humanity?

"We are enclosing a quantity of Christmas Seals which we hope you will accept."

PROGRAM AT NORMAL

The children of the training school at the normal will give a Thanksgiving program at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The parents and friends of the children are cordially invited to be present.

Thanksgiving lunch given at M. A. Kubal, Corner Ninth & Market.

FAVORS DANCING IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

"Dancing should be introduced in all schools and regular evenings should be set aside for the pupils to enjoy themselves with this line of pastime," is the assertion of Poor Commissioner S. Burdick.

"In the schools the children would have the proper environment and would not suffer from the moral degradation which invariably attends the public dance halls."

S. Y. Hughes, superintendent of the Boys' Busy Life club, Milwaukee, when speaking on the subject of public dancing, declared that steps should be taken to give dances in the churches and that courting in church should even be permissible.

M'NAMARA JURY ATTENDS FUNERAL

Practical Miner Says Dynamite Never Caused Times Disaster; May Have Been Gas

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28.—While the members af the jury on the McNamara murder trial attended the funeral of Charles Sexton, brother of permanent Juror J. B. Sexton Judge Bordwell today qualified for examination the eleventh venire called in the case. As a result of the Sexton funeral, the morning session was limited to the qualification of the venire.

Intense interest is felt in the court's rulings this afternoon on Edward Haskell, formerly of Albany, N. Y., who has ben challenged by the state for actual bias. Haskell was for many years a practical mine worker working throughout Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico, and is now a clerk in the Los Angeles assessor's office. He declared he "knew all about dynamite, realized fully that dynamite never caused the Times' fire, and that it was an utter impossibility that it could." He said he looked over the Times' ruins, saw the real wreckage which must have been caused by fire, but which, he also insisted, could have been caused by a gas explosion.

There were still three vacant seats in the box when court reconvened at 2 p. m. Of the fifty members of the eleventh venire examined by the court at the omrning session, more than half were eliminated on the usual excuses.

JEFFERSON HIGH TO MEET LOCALS

Southerners Play Last Game of Season on Local Field Thanksgiving Day

The high school football team will play their last game of the season with Jefferson high school next Thursday afternoon. The Jefferson men are reported to be a strong bunch of players and also a speedy lot. They were defeated by Fort Atkinson about a month ago by a score of 16 to 0. The Forts did not win the game on straight football but gained most of their points on fluke plays and in the real game, the Jeffersonians showed up as strong as their opponents. Fort Atkinson beat Madison by a score of 2 to 0, and La Crosse defeated the same team by a score of 6 to 0, so by comparison it seemed that Jefferson men are capable of putting up a good scrap.

In this game the local football rooters will have their last chance to witness the following men in action in a high school game: Stavrum, Hayes, Chamberlain, Bovee, Weimar and Jungbluth. The first five men played on the state championship team last season and were potent factors in bringing the football championship of the state to La Crosse. All of the above men have played strong games this year and but for a little hard luck at Chippewa Falls would have figured in the making of another championship team.

The squad has had but light practice since the Madison game ununtil last night when it went through a long, stiff scrimmage at the fair grounds. The team did not show its usual speed, which was perhaps due to the icy ground, but it will no doubt be hammered into its old time form by Thursday afternoon.

THE GOVERNORS REACH CHICAGO

Windy City Extends Welcome to the Party of Western Executives Today

TALK BUT LITTLE POLITICS

All Agree Roosevelt will Not Be a Candidate for the Presidency in 1912

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Chicago extended welcome today to "The Governors' special." The western executives were entertained at luncheon at the Union League club and visited the headquarters of the Chicago association of Commerce and the real estate board, this afternoon, taking in the land show.

As the state executives entered the hotel which was made their headquarters in this city. Miss Mabel Riegelman, a member of the Grand Opera company here, and herself a western girl, sang western songs in the lobby.

"We represent 81 per cent of the unsettled domain of the United States, one-tenth of the population, and one-third of the entire acreage of the nation," said Governor Eberhart of Minnesota. "We want the east to know more about our respective states, and we want to attract immigrants."

All of the governors agreed that Colonel Roosevelt would not be a candidate for the presidency in 1912.

"I don't think the political situation is changing very decidedly," said Governor Eberhart. "Party lines are not so sharply drawn as heretofore. However, I do not believe there will be any split in the parties."

"The progressive movement is steadily at work and will work a reforming of party lines," declared Governor Burke of North Dakota. "The reforming may not come now, or in ten, or in fifteen years—but it will come. I do not believe there will be a new party, but rather a rehabilitation of the old. The large vote of the socialists shows dissatisfaction with the old line parties."

"It is a vote of protest," interrupted Eberhart.

Lieutenant Governor Fitzgerald of Colorado, declared that economically the country was in fine shape.

"However," he added, "the present political situation is a disturbing factor. The old parties are all shot to pieces, and it is hard to say what the result of the next campaign will be in regard to the integrity of our political organizations. Colorado will go for Taft, in my opinion."

Governor West of Oregon said he believed that Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey was the choice of Oregon democrats for the presidential nomination.

The governors will leave this evening for Kalamazoo.

A new term will begin Dec. 4th at the Keefe Business College, corner Fourth and Pearl. Special rates will be given to those who enter at this time. Night school Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of each week.

WRONG SYSTEM FOR TESTS, SAYS BRADISH

"Unless there is something radically wrong with the wells when they are tested which I dont look for," said City Engineer Bradish this morning, "they will be pronounced all right by the expert who tests them, for they will be tested as to their sanitary merits, and although the water may have deteriorated, nothing will be done on this score."

Mr. Bradish declares that this is not the proper way to test the wells and that other methods should be used. He thinks that not only should they be tested for their sanitary worth, but that the deterioration of the water should also be looked into.

WATER MAIN BREAKS

One of the sixteen inch water mains at Sixth and State streets bursted this noon, during fire pressure, and the water flowed from the pipe so fast that before it could be shut off the corner was inundated several inches.

CASES SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Streckfus Packet Company Settles All Claims of J. S. Victims Out of Court

Claims amounting to $14,000, made against the Streckfus Packet company by victims of the J. S. disaster, have been settled out of court, including the claim for the death of Henry Plein, who was said to have been locked in the hold of the boat when the flames broke out. The amounts for which the cases were settled is kept secret, but it is understood that it was considerably less than what was asked.

Captain Streckfus said of the cases: "I am satisfied with the settlements and I have reasons to believe that all of the claimants are satisfied. The destruction of the steamer by fire, of course, laid us liable for some claims. After all of them had been filed and plenty of time allowing to lapse I arranged to meet the claimants or their attorneys, and finally reached an agreement. While there were $14,000 claims filed, I may say that the settlement was a compromise and did not reach the figure. I feel better to have them all settled and wiped out—satisfactorily to the claimants."

It will be recalled that the boat burned while it was out with an excursion. Fire was discovered in the hold. The boat was run ashore and the passengers were all safely conveyed to the shore with the exception of one who lost his life.

HAS FAMOUS STOVE

VIROQUA, Wis., Nov. 28.—Three miles west of here, in a little basement, stands a stove that once furnished warmth and comfort to three of our country's greatest men —Abraham Lincoln, Jefferson Davis and Zachariah Taylor. This useful and ancient article was taken from old Fort Crawford, nod Prairie du Chien, in the days when this country was comparatively new. Iron one inch thick was used in the making, and the stove weighs nearly a ton.

Lamech Graham, a pioneer settler of Springville, once owned the stove and used it in the old stone mill, which was once the scene of activity, but now stands gray and silent. Hon. Philip Bouffleur next acquired possession of the stove, and sold it to Mrs. Mary Brown, who has it stored in the basement of her house at Springfield.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 28.—Judge Willard in the federal court at Minneapolis yesterday filed his decision dismissing the bill brought by the American Linseed Oil company of Omaha that had been pending for some time against Andrew French and Joel Winkjer, state dairy and food commissioners, the court holding there is no merit in the contention that the company's business was being interfered with.

POLICE REVENGEFUL

MUSCATINE, Iowa, Nov. 28.—To avenge the death of Officer Theodore Gerischer, who, it is alleged, was killed by a member of the button workers' union Saturday night, the police showed little mercy today when union sympathizers were encountered in the vicinity of the plants or in any way interfered with non-unionists on the way to work. Broken clubs displayed by the officers gave evidence of their fierce onslaughts on alleged rioters.

Lots of people think they're lighthearted when it's only their heads.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL'S WEDDING IS SECRET

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 28.—The parents and friends of Mrs. Gladys Van Nest-Smith, 15, have not yet recovered from their surprise at the news that the girl had been married on September 2 in Hudson, Wis., to Arthur W. Smith, 18, noted football player of Notre Dame college.

The couple met in Minneapolis during Smith's summer vacation last summer. They had been acquainted but a few weeks before the marriage. The girl gave her age as 20 and Smith as 21. Immediately after the marriage Smith returned to college and Mrs. Smith entered high school here under her maiden name.

Mrs. Smith, daughter of a well known business man here, never breathed a word of her secret to her parents or friends and only when confronted by her elder sister, Rachel, would she admit her marriage.

Mr. Van Nest, father of the girl, intimated today that steps would be taken to annul the marriage although he would not commit himself.

The MUNSEY For December

Making Washington the Most Beautiful City in the World

Washington was once a dismal and distressing swamp—the last place that a man of average foresight would contemplate as a city of majesty and beauty. A foreigner saw in this dreary waste a vision of beauty. He drafted plans which, when carried out, will make this site the finest residential city of the world. His plans were drawn more than a hundred years ago. Just who this architect-dreamer was, and how his dream is coming true, are told in a fascinating article entitled, "The New Washington," by Isaac F. Marcosson.

What Do You Know About This Great Question?

The Supreme Court of the United States will shortly render a decision on the Oregon initiative and referendum. The decision is important in that it will determine the trend of all legislation along this line. If you would have a clear understanding of the present status of the movement for giving the people more effective control of their government, read "Initiative, Referendum and Recall," by Judson C. Welliver.

Are Rich Men Gullible?

We hear so much these days about the poor man who is unfairly parted from his money that many are led to believe that those in affluence are immune from the sharper. The opposite seems to be the case, according to Walter Prichard Eaton. In an entertaining article, "The Gullible Rich," Eaton tells of many wealthy men of accredited business acumen who have "fallen for" the most obvious frauds ever perpetrated.

Thackeray as His Friends Knew Him

The intimate friendship that existed between Thackeray and Mrs. Brookfield has long been a subject of the deepest interest to all readers of the great English novelist, and to all students of the personal romances of literature. There have been many unauthorized statements on the subject, some of which have given much pain to the relatives of the two persons most concerned. In this article, Mrs. Brookfield's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles Brookfield, sets forth the exact facts of Thackeray's relations with his closest friends, and we find in it many charming sidelights of an interesting personality.

JUDGMENT RULES XMAS SHOPPING

Day of Frivolous Gifts Past and Presents This Year Are Mostly Useful Articles

The real value of the American dollar will be considered by Christmas shoppers in purchasing gifts this year. Articles of use, more substantial and not of the frivolous variety, are to be purchased. Instead of gifts which are simply ornamental and cannot be put to real use, it is predicted that the average Christmas shopper in La Crosse will exert a keener sense of judgment than ever before.

Not that La Crose people are becoming "tightwads." Nor is it because money is short and that the usual prosperity of the city is absent. La Crosse Christmas buyers will purchase useful articles because it is becoming a demand. Years ago, when no matter how sensitive the gift-giver was, it was not the custom, especially in the cities, to give other than articles which pleased a passing fancy.

But the tide has changed. People no longer take notice of the formality of a Christmas gift. It is the real gift that counts; one that will be highly treasured by the receiver as well as a pleasure on the part of the Santa. This year the stores are stocking up with an unusual number of useful articles—from an article of household furniture of the most luxurious variety to the dainty piece of jewelry, clothing, cloth materials and countless other things which can be used and will make Christmas cheer reign supreme in this city.

Time For Thought

When Christmas tide approaches to the average person there is always time for reflection—good hard thinking. "What shall I give?" is the question. The husband, brother, sister, daughter and son—and possibly sweethearts ponder over this question.

The custom of purchasing articles which may be used in every-day life, according to local store proprietors, is being more practiced. To this end there are any number of things which fit the purpose perfectly.

For the ladies there are many new things to be had. Science has done much in a year. There are mechanically propelled household instruments. The air-carpet sweeper, the sewing machine propelled by electricity, fireless cookers and other articles which save women much labor.

To beautify the home, purchasers have choice stocks to buy from. And, they may be purchased at little expense.

Some of the pleasing articles for the home which are entirely new in this city:

Mountain red cedar chests for furs and dresses, guaranteed to keep moths and insects away. These are generally constructed along colonial lines.

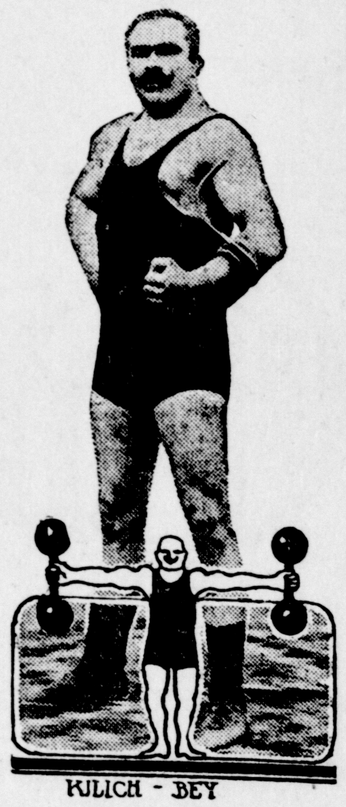

Large, luxurious old-fashioned rocking chairs with a double-spring and automobile seat.

Chairs of the Louis XVI type. Louis XV chairs and furniture, which are very pronounced in both design and color, are not much in demand.

Workbaskets of willow.

There are many other articles too countless to mention that are very acceptable as gifts.

STRONGEST MAN IN THE WORLD

KILICH - BEY

OURMIAH, Persia.—Kilich-bey is acknowledged to be the strongest man in the world. In a demonstration of his superior physical development he has recently accomplished some wonderful feats of strength. Twisting a bar of steel two inches in diameter around his elbow is only one of the tests which he has exhibited here. Recently shortly after this picture was taken two powerful wild Arabian horses were harnessed to his arms. The horses made frantic efforts to get away from the crowd but Kilich-bey stood firm as a rock and they could not drag him an inch from his position. Afterwards this modern Samson concluded by punching a piece of stone to pieces with his bare fists.

STOMACH MISERY JUST VANISHES

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn and Dyspepsia go five minutes after taking Pape's Diapepsin

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nauseau, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common, every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

ROOSEVELT BOOMED IN SITE OF SELF

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 27.—Requests for places on the Roosevelt banquet circuit are beginning to be received by John O. Yeiser, a local attorney, originator of the plan to boost Col. Roosevelt's candidacy for the presidency by means of simultaneous banquets held in various towns and cities.

The plan was to have been confined to Nebraska with the object of sending Roosevelt delegates to the national convention, requests from Kansas, Iowa, Illinois and South Dakota have forced the promoters to make it a national event.

The first request came from Gunn, Wyoming, a mining town, whose citizens, so they wrote, want to 'whoop 'er up for Teddy."

"We do not care whether Mr. Roosevelt approves or disapproves of the plan. We are going ahead and wil hold banquets in every city and town possible at the same hour, and will get the colonel to talk to us if possible," said Yeiser.

The date for the banquets has not yet been set.

RELICS ADDED TO NORMAL MUSEUM

Interesting Document Belonging to First Mayor of La Crosse Donated to Big Collection

INTERESTING SCHOOL WEEK

Secretary Kittle of Normal School Regents Visits La Crosse and Notables Address Students

Among recent acquisitions coming into possession of the Normal Museum are the following: Most important is a collection of documents belonging to the estate of Thomas B. Stoddard, the first mayor of La Crosse. Mr. Stoddard came here in 1853 and died in 1876. His correspondence with prominent men must have been considerable, for this collection includes letters from General John A. Dix and Schuyler Colfax. There is also a letter of introduction to Stephen A. Douglas. Mr. Stoddard's commission admitting him to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States is preserved. This is dated 1846. Also the official notice of his election to the position of mayor of La Crosse.

Among the old family papers is the collection are letters dating back as early as 1797, and a commission given to Mr. Stoddard's grandfather as captain of militia in 1783. For the gift of these valuable historical documents the school is indebted to Mr. John M. Holley, Sr.

Copy of "Democrat."

A valuable volume of the La Crosse Daily Democrat, covering a part of the year 1866 was donated to the school by the Gund Brewing company through its secretary, Mr. Carl Kurtenacker. The editor of this paper, Mr. "Brick" Pomeroy, was a violent partisan of the south, before and after the war. His criticisms of the administration are caustic in the extreme.

Mr. H. E. Quinn has donated to the school a collection including fossils of sea fish and shark's teeth, that are of great interest to the scientific department.

Football Season Ends

The normal school's football team formally closed its season Thursday by having its "official" picture taken. Basketball practice has already begun and three games have been scheduled, one with the Galesville high, one with Cashton, and one with the Normal at Platteville. Others will be arranged later.

The latest addition to the new orchestra organized under the leadership of Prof. Nurse is Prof. Best, who will preside over the bass viol. This organization has begun meeting regularly for practice and is sure to be a feature of the school that will contribute its full share of pleasure and profit to the whole Normal. Its playing is already adding to the enjoyment of many a social function within the school. Another musical feature of the school is the Men's Chorus or Glee club. It has more than a score of members and will be prepared to give a good account of itself when it makes its first appearance in chapel under the leadership of Miss Oltman.

Secretary Kittle Here

Mr. William Kittle, secretary of the Board of Normal School Regents, was a visitor Thursday and Friday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Kittle. Secretary Kittle is just completing his annual round of visiting, La Crosse being the last Normal he reached.

President Cotton went to Onalaska Friday morning to address the students of the Agricultural school. Prof. Joel R. Moore, of the Rural school department, spent Friday in visiting country schools in La Crosse county with County Superintendent Oltman.

The regular weekly meeting of the school's Young Women's Christian Association was held in the Kindergarten rooms Thursday afternoon at 4:10, with some unusual but very pleasant features. Tea was served to all the girls. Rev. Billings of the Baptist church of this city, was the leader in the service, and Mrs. Cilley sang.

Enjoy Program

Friday morning the school enjoyed a program of thirty or forty minutes spent in becoming acquainted with the life and works of the great Hungarian composer, Liszt. First there was a paper by Miss Gilbert, setting forth the chief events in the life of Liszt, and this was followed by a number of selections from the compositions of the same man. These were all rendered so well as to reflect credit upon the ones appearing on the program, and further aid the school in its interpretation of the art of one who was beautiful and elevating and artistic even if often mystical in his music. "Consolation" by Miss Fauver; "Serenade" (Schubert) Liszt, by Howard Jones; "Die Lorelei," by Miss Oltman; and a piano duet, "Hungarian, No. 2," by the Misses Southworth and Luedke, comprised the musical part of the program.

Prof. Brittell Speaks

Prof. C. F. Brittel, of the science department in the new normal school at Wayne, Nebraska, was an interested visitor Wednesday and spoke briefly at the students' assembly hour. One of the most helpful addresses given before the school this year was given Monday morning by Mr. Mohr, Grand Rapids, Mich., the father of Miss Esther Mohr of the Department of English, in the faculty. He used the scriptural text, "If a man compel you to go with him a mile, go with him twain," as a basis for his talk, and with numerous concrete illustrations brought the conviction that it is the positio that is more than filled, the life that overflows, that really counts.

Benj. Stevens, Earl Brandenburg and Wm. Stevenson, with Emil Krause as alternate, have been elected by the Eclectic society to represent this school in its coming debate with the Platteville Normal.

The question submitted for debate is "Resolved, that the Constitutional Amendment for the Establishment of the Initiative and Referendum Proposed by the Legislature of Wisconsin (Joint Resolution No. 74) Should be Adopted." It has been proposed that a triangular debating league be formed, comprising the normal schools of La Crosse, Platteville and Milwaukee. Should this be done the joint debate between Platteville and La Crosse would be made one factor in the new triangular meet.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefor requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

CARLOTTA STILL REIGNS SUPREME

The Only Woman in the World to Loop the Loop on a Bicycle Holds the Audience Breathless

OTHER ACTS ARE ALL GOOD

Singers and Dancers Are Clever and Classy, while Playlet of Ireland Is Applauded

Carlotta again last night held the large audiences breathless while she looped-the-loop on a bicycle at the Majestic theater. If there is anyone who has been skeptical as to the death-defying feature of Carlotta's act one performance would be enough to erase all skepticism.

Carlotta plunges down a steep incline at the rate of 120 miles an hour, goes around the loop and in another minute is bowing to the audience.

The act looks easy but Carlotta says, "I expect to be killed some day and my only hope is that when it does happen, death will be instantaneous. I have a horror of being maimed."

With this big feature act the entire program this week is one deserving of praise. Singing, dancing, and comedy reign supreme. Raymond & Hall are billed as "Dancers of Class" and their artistically clever performance last night was well received.

Al Abbott is a character singer of the first class and his work last evening was the signal for much applause. Abbott has a repertoire of clever and catchy songs and has a voice to "get them to" the audience.

On the Banks of Killarney is the title of a sketch of more than ordinary merit. Emmett & Emmett present the little playlette. The use of pigeons, a rat terrier and game cock add much to the attractiveness of the act.

The Jim Tenbrooke tria furnish music and comedy featured by impersonations of some of the world's greatest pianists.

The young people of St. Mary's will serve a 25c supper Tuesday evening, Nov. 28, at 6 o'clock. Candy, apron and towel sale.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY IN RECONCILIATION

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 28.—After being separated three years, Christ Gaehringer, Jr., 20, and his wife, Minnie Camelgard, 22, met last night to effect a reconciliation in the same hotel, where they spent their honeymoon three years ago. Goehringer, after a quarrel early this morning, killed himself after mortally wounding his wife.

The woman was alive at the city hospital at 10 a. m. today but the physicians say she has no posible chance for recovery.

The woman said they were married three years, but had quarreled as a result of Goehringers drinking. Last night they met, talked of reunion and went to the hotel.

The Advantage.

Friend—Why do you encourage these woman-suffrage meetings? Surely you don't approve of them?

Husband—Approve? With all my heart! I can come home as late as I like now without finding my wife at home to ask questions—Fliegende Blaetter.

MRS. VERMILYA LIES AT POINT OF DEATH

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Louise Vermilya, whom the police suspect of half a score of murders by arsenical poisoning, may never live to face possible charges growing out of the cases. It was stated at the county jail today that the woman is critically ill. On the eve of her detention by the police the alleged poisoner took a big dose of arsenic, and she has never recovered from the effects of the drug.

The woman refuses to take any exercise, and lies apathetically in a bed in the hospital, apparently totally unconcerned over the suspicions of the police, or of her own condition.

BRYAN'S QUICK WIT PREVENTS A PANIC

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A funny story by William Jennings Bryan, in which he proposed that the passengers land on the barren reef at Atwood Key, set up a republic and elect him president, prevented a panic when the liner Prinz Joachim went on the rocks, according to passengers who reached New York today on the Seguaranca, which took them from the Prinz Joachim.

According to the passengers, Bryan appeared on deck shortly after the ship struck and immediately made a speech to allay the fears of the passengers.

ABUNDANCE OF SOFT, FLUFFY HAIR AND NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF

Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine and just try this—stops hair falling out at once.

Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff like snow beneath the blazing sun, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most you will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp.

A little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

THE CHILDREN'S DIET

By Marion Foster Washburne

Poor Food Often Causes Stupidity

Failing of Young Ones Frequently Attributable to Defects in Their Meals—Tastes Are Best Guide

FOOD, as we all know, has three offices to perform. First, it has to repair waste; second, to create heat; and third, to maintain energy. These three functions are constant. Food, whether taken by adult or child, has to do these three things; but when taken by a child it has to do one thing more, and that a most important one. It has to build new tissues.

If, for any reason, the kind of food taken into the body or the quantity of it is not sufficient to do all these things, some one of them plainly will be left out. That is, if the child continues to grow the proper bodily repairs will not be made and the growth will be accompanied by all sorts of pains and disorders. Or else there will not be enough energy supplied, and the child, although well-grown and apparently healthy, will be lazy and stupid. In some cases the failure is a failure to supply proper heat, and the hulking boy or girl goes around with cold hands and feet, blue lips and very often with a chronic influenza cold. All of these things may come directly from an insufficient or improper food supply.

Mental Faults and Poor Food.

It is not so well known, but it is equally true, that mental dullness and nervous irritability come from low feeding. Many a growing boy who has been thought to be "too stupid for any good use" is so not because of any fault of his own, but merely because he is underfed. And many a child, too, is punished for laziness and irritability who really ought merely to be nourished into energy and good temper.

All these things come because parents are ignorant of the true function of food, and of the sort of food necessary for the growing child. If they confessed this ignorance, and because of it refused to interfere with the natural desires of the children, they would work less mischief. They might, in that case, set forth a good variety of food and let the youngsters' appetites do the rest. And in this they would be getting very near the right programme.

But unfortunately they seem to think that such a common-sense procedure is in some way a failure to perform their full duty, and therefore they lay down rules which really do more harm than good. For instance, there is a widespread belief that children ought not to eat so much candy. The belief is, indeed, as widespread as the children's desire for sweets. Yet, whenever a craving is as universal as this love of sugar, it is sure to be based on some universal need. The truth is that children need sugar, need more of it than adults do, and need it oftener. Sugar is a source of both heat and energy, and growing children are in need of large supplies of both.

Again, children dislike fats. Yet grown people are continually coaxing them to "eat a little piece of this lovely beefsteak fat, dearie! It's good for you." Now, the young child's liver is not yet in a state to deal properly with much fat, although the adult liver is perfectly capable of it. Therefore the child's aversion to fat, and the adult's desire for it. Both are founded upon the state of the liver.

Children also crave acids, especially the acids of fruits. What mother has not had to discipline children to keep them from eating green apples and from buying green pickles at the grocery store? The truth is that fruit acids act both as tonics and as laxatives. If fruit is plentifully supplied, children will not get so frantic for the acid they need that for its sake they will pucker their mouths and risk cholera by eating green apples. The morbid desire for the strong acid grows out of the perfectly natural and healthy desire for a less sharp acid; but the desire being thwarted grows to unhealthy proportions. The way to keep children from eating green apples is to give them plenty of ripe, tart fruit.

Meat Diet and Vegetarianism.

Children often are great meat eaters. Nervous, intense children have a tremendous craving for meat. Do their parents ask themselves whether this craving has any sense in it or not? No! They merely deny it, assuming that too much meat is bad for children. Now, let us see about this.

The degree of energy which can be obtained from any food depends directly upon the nutritiveness of that food. You can, as the vegetarians say, get as much nutrition from wheat as from meat; but you cannot get it out of the same bulk. All vegetable food is less compactly nutritious than meats are. It requires much more bread than meat to give the same energy, and still more potatoes.

The child's stomach is a little thing. To stuff it with the most bulky of foods is not the part of wisdom, for then the stomach must work very hard in order to extract from that mass the amount of nutrition required to keep up heat, repair energy and growth.

The Vegetarian Animals.

Think for a moment of the noble cow, a creature often held up for our admiration by enthusiastic vegetarians. It is true that she extracts from the grass of the fields good meat and cream, which feed men. But, dear me! she gives her whole mind to it, and almost her whole body. Her legs are just barely long enough and strong enough to carry her to the best feeding places; her neck muscles are just sufficient to maintain her heavy head in the proper feeding position. She seldom flings it high in order to look about her, as the well-fed horse does. Her brains are dull and sleepy. The whole force of her economy goes to the management of her many stomachs and her great abdomen. Look at the shape of her!—a great bulk of digestive apparatus swung between four short posts. This is what a creature becomes who is forced to extract nourishment from so innutritious a substance as grass.

Compare the cow with the horse. The horse, to be sure, eats vegetable foods, but feods in which more nourishment is packed. He gets the seeds, such as oats and beans and corn—the receptacles in which the plant world has packed away concentrated nourishment. And lo! he has at once more fire, more strength and more intelligence than the cow.

The dog, again, who eats nothing but meat, is still liveller and more intelligent. The horse gives up much of his time and much room in his anatomy to digestion, the dog scarcely more than does the human being.

The next time a circus comes to town notice the difference in the animals in the menagerie. The strict vegetarians, such as the giraffes, the camels, the emus, the gnus, etc., are all dreamy looking, docile creatures, each with a large digestive apparatus; while the flesh-eating creatures, such as the lions, tigers and wolves, are so full of fire and energy, even in their confinement, that they pace restlessly about their cages. That these differences are not merely due to the special constitution of these animals is proved, as Herbert Spencer remarked, by the fact that the same animal will change his disposition and appearance, according to the kind of food administered to him. The grass-fed horse, for instance, becomes sag-bellied and loses muscle and speed. Recent experiments in the feeding of milch cows show that an ordinary cow richly fed on bran and grains will often give more milk, and a better quality of milk than a registered Jersey cow fed chiefly on hay and grass.

Well-fed Laborers.

The same change takes place in men when they are well fed. The English railway laborers, fed meat and other concentrated food, were formerly so superior to the continental laborers, fed chiefly on vegetables, that English railway contractors always used to take their own laborers with them when building railroads in other contries. But they presently discovered that if the continental laborers were fed in the same way that the English laborers were, they soon came up very nearly to the same mark.

Yet, in spite of these and many more facts, parents often think that the best diet for children is one in which there is little meat, very little sugar, and still less variety. I have heard parents boast that their children ate little less than bread and milk, with sometimes a potato, and occasionally an egg. But the truth is that the bread-and-potato-fed children of the English peasantry cannot compare with the better-fed children of the upper class. And among us the under-fed children of farmers and of the poorer class in our cities do not compare in size, vigor and general brightness with the children of people who eat more abundantly.

The Way Many Children Eat.

In town, the poorer children often live to a great extent on bananas, swallowed whole, on bakery cookies, and bakery bread. There is good nourishment, to be sure, in a banana, but that nourishment can only be properly extracted when the banana is carefully chewed and mixed with saliva. As most children eat this fruit, it might as well be flavored slippery elm bark for all the nourishment extracted from it; while bakery cookies have only the merit of the slight amount of sugar they carry; and bakery bread is sometimes a hollow delusion. If such children could be taught to chew their bananas, could be given meat or eggs at least once a day, could have their bread well buttered, and could add home-made candies and pure milk to their dietary, they would show the difference in their improved appearance and tempers within one week.

Country children too often live largely on potatoes, skim milk and vegetables. The only advantage they have in their diet is that they often have fruit-butters to spread upon their bread, and other forms of preserved fruits throughout the winter, with a plentiful supply of fresh fruits in summer. But they ought to have added to this diet fresh meat (not merely salt pork), unskimmed milk, butter and eggs. As many farmers' wives depend upon the sale of butter and eggs for their pocket money and for the buying of necessary groceries, it often follows that their children are not properly fed on the very articles which the farm produces most abundantly. Skim milk alone nourishes neither child nor calf, and salt meat has not the nutritive value of good fresh meat and eggs.

Indigestion and a Low Diet.

Children who are fed in a faulty manner often have dyspepsia, and because of the dyspepsia their parents hesitate to give them meat or candies or cream. And, indeed, the advantage from a reduced diet to a full diet must with such children be made slowly. Their digestions are bad just because their stomachs, along with the rest of their bodies, are weakened by poor food. Their digestions will improve as proper food is given. But the good food must be taken slowly into the system, because the system in its weakened state is not able to care for any kind of food in great quantities.

Of course, we must remember that bulky foods have a special dietetic value of their own. While it will not do to feed a child altogether on vegetables, neither will it do to omit them. We have seen that there is much waste and bulk in vegetables, and this very quality, rightly used, has an advantage of its own. The stomach must have a certain amount of bulk to work upon, and if that bulk is wholly made up of meat and other concentrated foods, the child soon becomes overfed. Therefore, he must have lettuce, celery, greens, squashes and other vegetables in their season in order to give his stomach enough to work upon and to supply the necessary bulk to carry off the waste of his body.

Another thing to be remembered is that, in order to have food digested well, it is necessary that it should taste good. The nerves of taste when pleasantly stimulated actually rouse the digestive powers. Children need not be pampered, but they ought to find every meal a pleasure.

Again, variety is necessary to health. There is not a single food, not even milk, which properly supplies all the materials needed by the body. In order to secure complete nutrition it is necessary to give a wide range of foods. This is true even in cattle feeding, but it is more markedly true in feeding human beings, who need food, not only for bone and muscle, but also for brain.

Sample Dietary.

To bring all these directions to a very practical issue, let us give a sample dietary for children from three years up:

BREAKFAST.
Fruit, stewed or raw
Cereal
Eggs — Crisp cakes and syrup or toast
Cocoa or cereal beverage

DINNER.
Meat — Potatoes — Other vegetables
Fruit or sweet dessert
Milk, buttermilk or cocoa

SUPPER.
Soup, fish or stew of mixed meats and vegetables
Salad or fruits — Bread and jelly

Between meals—any time two hours before regular meal times—a glass of milk, cooky, candy or fruit, as demanded.

Tasty Preserves and Good Pickles

Receipts Collected from Housewives All Over the Country

Pickles in Olive Oil.

One gallon of medium-sized cucumbers sliced rather thin, without paring. Place in a stone jar a layer of cucumbers and salt alternately, using a teacup of salt. Let stand three hours, pour off the liquid, rinse off the salt. Peel and slice six large onions. Place in a gallon jar a layer of cucumbers and a few slices of onions; strew with black and white mustard and olive oil, continuing until the jar is full, using three-quarters of a cup of oil and two tablespoons of mustard. Pour over this enough cold vinegar to cover the ingredients and let stand one month before serving. N. D. M.

Onions and Cucumber Pickle.

Wash thoroughly and dry one peck of very small cucumbers. Peel one heaping quart of small onions. Have jars clean and cold; fill the jars with alternate layers of cucumbers, onions, a slice of sweet red pepper to each layer and sprinkle each liberally with whole allspice and celery seed. Scald one gallon of vinegar containing a cup of salt and one and two-thirds cups of granulated sugar; pour this mixture while hot, over the vegetables and seal at once. In following this recipe there is only one precaution to be taken to insure crisp, piquant pickles—the cucumbers must be fresh; often those bought at the market have been pulled several days. N. D. M.

Pepper Hash.

Chop fine one large head of cabbage, six large onions and eight large sweet red peppers—having removed the seeds from four of the peppers. Mix the vegetables and one-half cup of salt together. Put in a jar and let stand overnight. Next morning drain well; add one-fourth of a cup of white mustard seed, two cups of sugar and one tablespoon of celery seed. Cover with vinegar and then add one extra quart. Put in small jars and seal. N. D. M.

Tomato Relish.

Scald, peel and chop fine one peck of ripe tomatoes; also chop six onions and four large sweet red peppers; mix together and drain in a colander overnight. Next morning add one bunch of celery, chopped fine, two ounces of white mustard seed and one-half cup of salt. To two quarts of vinegar add two pounds of granulated sugar, scald and when cold mix with the other ingredients. N. D. M.

Apple Salad.

Core, but do not peel, six ripe apples, scoop them out a little. Fill them with cold, cooked chicken minced fine and mixed with finely minced green pepper, a little salt and just enough cream to moisten the chicken. Now put these apples in a steamer and cook them until almost tender, but not in the least soft. When cool put them on ice until very cold, then serve each one on a bed of lettuce and pipe plenty of mayonnaise dressing around and on the top of each.

Pineapple Preserves.

Peel and shred the pineapples fine with a silver fork, allowing a pound of fruit to one and one-quarter pounds of sugar; mix thoroughly and let it stand overnight. The next morning put it in small jars, but do not screw the tops down too tight. Put the jars in a big pan and put them in the fruit cellar. Each morning for a few days take a cloth and wipe the outside of the jars, as the preserves ooze at first; when it stops oozing screw the tops tight. N. D. M.

Blueberry Jelly.

Heat berries not yet fully ripe very slowly without water. Add pound for pint of sugar and juice. The perfectly green berries, or the berries mature yet hard and red in color, may be used alone, or one-third of each (red and green) and one-third ripe berries to give a richer, deeper color. This last combination makes a rich tart jelly. Fruit Recipes, R. M. F. B.

Crab Apple Marmalade.

Clean and core crab apples and put through a meat chopper. Put in the preserving kettle enough water to just see it among the apples. Cook until soft, then add as much sugar as sauce by weight and cook until thick and the juice is jellylike, about fifteen minutes. Pour at once into heated glasses and when cold cover with hot paraffin.

Sweet Red Pepper Pickle.

Five dozen sweet red peppers, one dozen sweet onions. Grind together, put on to cook in one quart of vinegar for fifteen minutes. Then add two cups of brown sugar, one tablespoon of salt, a little celery seed and boil slowly one hour. This relish makes good sandwiches.

Peach Chips.

Slice firm, ripe peaches quite thin; boil until clear in a syrup made of half their weight in sugar. Remove from syrup with a skimmer; lay carefully on dishes and set in the sun until perfectly dry; sprinkle well with granulated sugar and pack in jars. This is a dainty concoction to keep on hand to serve with ices or to form a border for molded desserts. E. L.

Making Use of the Hawthorn Berries

An Excellent Jelly that Can Be Prepared from this Neglected Material

THE hawthorn trees with their edible drupe, known as haws, are plentiful in our vicinity, and the fruit may be gathered by the bushels in the city parks and outlying districts. A young housekeeper filled a basket with the red fruit, which was the first plump ripening of the season. She selected the sound haws and, after washing, she put the fruit, whole, stems, skin and flower-end into her preserving kettle, and then followed exactly the recipe for apple jelly. This recipe was: Four quarts of cold water to eight quarts of fruit; cook until soft. This housekeeper found that by the time the fruit had softened that every particle of the brilliant red color of the skins had incorporated itself with the juice. She next put the mixture through a jelly press and strained the juice. Following, then, the recipe of equal amount of sugar to the quantity of juice, she boiled over a slow fire for about half an hour. She obtained fourteen jelly glasses from the basket load.

The jelly proved to be firm in texture, of exquisite color, and delicious to the taste. The color might be described as "ruby amber." The taste was half way between quince and apple jelly.

The general distribution of hawthorn trees is east of the Rocky mountains. The earliest fruiting occurs about September 20. The season lasts until toward the middle of November. The later fruitage, however, is more fibrous and bitter. There are two centers in the United States where the hawthorn is abundant. In the St. Lawrence valley there are one hundred species known to botanists. In Arkansas and Indian Territory there are over one hundred known species. In the Arnold arboretum of Harvard University the director of forestry has located to date, and is examining and growing over three thousand varieties of haws.

The fruit which was "jelled" by the little housekeeper, who is a bride of one years, is the species known botanically as the Crataegus pennsylvanca. Her "discovery" provoked the remark at the botanical meeting: "What an opportunity for the horticulturist; namely, to cultivate the haw until it becomes, through selection and improvement, as valuable an edible as the apple or pear!"

Thus one "discovery" is likely to lead to another. So, there you are, a new idea for the fruit growers, the botanists interested, a new preserve for the pantry; for, as far as I know, no attempt has ever been made before to make jelly from haws.

Coffee Caramel Fluff.

Soften one large tablespoon of gelatine in one-half cup of cold water. Cook one-half cup of granulated sugar until quite brown and thick with one-quarter cup of very strong coffee; then add one-half cup of coffee, which should be freshly made and hot, and also add the gelatine. When dissolved remove from fire and beat until cool. Now add one-half cup of cream, whipped stiff and the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs. Set away to harden slightly, but before it is quite set turn it into a mold and put it on ice for an hour or more. Serve with a custard made of one and one-half cups of milk, one-quarter cup of sugar, one teaspoon of butter, one-half teaspoon of arrowroot moistened in some of the milk and after boiling a few moments add the three yolks slightly beaten. Flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla.

Chicago Grain Letter

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—A bear campaign caused a drop in wheat prices today, and the May product sold under par for the first time in a number of weeks. Later there was a show of strength under strong support. Cable news was bullish.

There was very little change in corn prices, despite reports of bad weather and a forecast for still worse.

There was fairly active trading in oats. Farmers are apparently holding their stocks of this grain for better prices, and no answers were received on bids sent out to the country over night.

The provision market had a firm undertone. Trading in May products was fairly active.

CHANGE OF RULES IS A NECESSITY

Football Has Become a Punting Game and Is Lacking in Interest, Say Critics

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Football experts at the college clubs here, their number including several of the official rule makers, are pretty well agreed that some radical changes in the rules will be necessary before next season. The chief clamor for reform is a demand for plays which will allow more scoring. Possibly this relief will be found by returning to a five yard gain for first down inside the twenty-five yard line, by increasing the number of downs allowed to gain ten yards to four, or by allowing first down after a seven instead of a ten yard gain.

Rules are Insufficient

Saturday's games at Cambridge and Philadelphia show the inefficiency of the new rules. The Army-Navy game showed little football except kicking. Dalton's toe carried the day. Yale and Harvard dabbled with all the wrinkles of the new game, but had to resort to kicking. This constant punting becomes very monotonous to the spectator. It has entirely changed the complexion of American football. The punt was originally put into the game not as a feature play, but as a last resort when the ball could be carried no further by the players. Under the present rules the kick is the main thing and the game becomes a kicking contest between two men, with the chance of picking up a fumble the chief reliance for touchdowns scoring.

More Scoring Wanted

Touchdowns, it is pointed out, are more satisfactory than field goals; they are what the players and spectators would rather see. They represent more football skill, more team skill, and more actual football ability. What is wanted and what all the colleges will demand of the rule makers this winter, is a game which will not further increase the risk of injuries, but which will beget some degree of finality in advancing the ball.

INDIAN TO MEET CUTLER

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Ahmed Bux, the Indian wrestler who is after championship chances, will take on Charles Cutler, the Chicago heavyweight mat artist tonight. If Bux wins, he will probably be matched with Jess Pederson, the Danish giant.

What a girl likes about men's athletics is how exciting it can be when it's so dull.

YOUNG EGAN IS AFTER JURGESON

South End Middleweight Finishes Training Under Lex Clayton and Is After Matches

Young Egan, the south end wrestler who appeared in La Crosse on several occasions last winter, has returned from Winona, where he has been training under the direction of Lex Clayton, the Winona wrestler who became famous a few years ago.

Egan in an interview announces that he is after the scalp of Judy Jurgenson, the north side middleweight who met defeat at the hands of Kid Carroll at Bangor recently. In order to obtain a match within a short time Egan is willing to place a side bet sufficient to guarantee a good sized purse to the winner of the match.

Both Egan and Jurgenson are in good trim and although Carrol managed to defeat Jurgenson it was only after a battle which lasted nearly two hours. In a former match they went one hour and thirty minutes to a draw.

Egan has been under Clayton for the past three months and has been doing considerable track and endurance work, as well as regular mat work.

Egan will open negotiations with Manager Moore for a match which will probably be staged within the next two weeks.

FOOTBALL MEET ON SATURDAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Planning of a schedule for next season, discussion regarding the advisability of changing the rules to permit the playing of summer baseball and definite information relative to the attitude of Minnesota and Michigan, will be the program for the meeting of the "Big Eight," or the western intercollegiate association here Saturday.

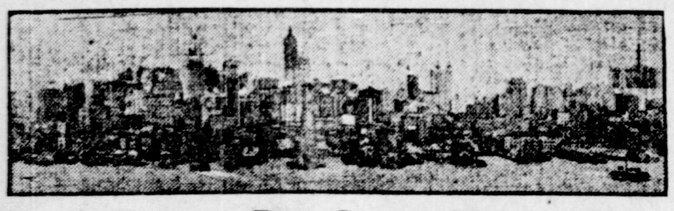

Minnesota is expected to propose a change in the eligibility rules covering the situation developed by Wisconsin's protest of Capt. Pickering. If Michigan desires to return to the conference the matter will also come up at the meeting. Minnesota will probably ask permission to play the Wolverines.

CORNELL-PENN GAME THURSDAY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 28.—The Cornell football squad arrived here today to do its final practice work for the Thanksgiving Day game with Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. Neither players nor coaches are optimistic over the Ithacans' chances against Pennsylvania. Cornell coaches have already conceded defeat, but declare their utmost efforts will be exerted to holding down the score.

"TAR" IN ACTION

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—A special train will take a big contingent of Chicago fight enthusiasts to South Bend Wednesday to see Phil Schlossberg, the navy champion heavyweight meet Tim O'Neill of Irondale. Both men are in splendid condition.

WESTERN TEAMS LEAD THE EAST

Minnesota on Equal Footing with Princeton and Is Stronger Than Others

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—G. W. Axelson, sporting editor of the Record-Herald, has the following to say on football:

There is no basis on which to figure the relative strength of the eastern and western teams, although the scores in the three intersectional matches played are in favor of the west. Michigan was defeated by Cornell and tied by Syracuse. The Wolverines put Pennsylvania to rout, and Chicago passed the compliment along to Cornell. Here the comparison practically ends, as there is n chance to figure how Princeton an Minnesota, for instance, would have fared had they met. The chances are that the Gophers would easily have held their own had they bumped up against the Tigers, and Chicago might have made it interesting for any of them had the Maroons been keyed up as they were in the Wisconsin game.

SCHMIDT WANTS TO BE AN AUTHOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Do you fans remember "Crazy" Schmidt, the famous pitcher, who was noted for the fact that he carried "the batter's weaknesses" in a little book in his pocket? Whether you do or not, he is still playing baseball and has just closed a season at Fond du Lac. He is close on to 50 years old. In a letter to a friend he says he wants to write a book, and if his letter is any indication of what he would put in the book, it is certainly worth while.

"I played on five different teams this year," says Schmidt, "and I won fourteen games out of twenty. I was on a tailend team each time, but I always was that, even when in New York. Our manager is the only one in this league who can pull the delayed steal like they do in the big league. He tried it ten times last season and got throwed out eight. All the others are afraid to try it."

Schmidt is the man who originated the famous saying that Wagner's weakness was a base on balls. He was on the level with it, too.

MATSUDA MEETS SUCCESS IN EAST

Jap who Defeated Young Samson Tells of Victory in Glowing Terms; Wins Title

John Moore, manager of Young Sampson and Judy Jurgeson, north side grapplers, is in receipt of a letter from Matsuda, the Jap, who met Young Sampson at the Majestic last winter in a match which went one hour and forty minutes. The little man from the Orient tells of his victory over Johnny Billiter, who claimed the lightweight championship of America, in their recent match in Rochester, N. Y.

In broken English, Matsuda tells of his climb up the ladder and although it is plain that he can see nothing but success ahead of him his confidence is cloaked with the sense of modesty characteristic to the Japanese.

Matsuda has affixed his signature to two contracts, one calling for his appearance at the Toledo Orpheum for two weeks and the other for his his appearance for the same length of time at the Cleveland Orpheum. Both contracts call for $250 per week.

MINERS' PAPER CALLS GOMPERS FOSSILIZED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 28.—Samuel Gompers has been president of the American Federation of Labor too long for the good of the interests he represents, the United Mine Workers' Journal will say in its issue tomorrow. The mine workers' official organ will assert that the belief that the holding of too many official positions makes a tyrant of a man, can be applied to Gompers and that the labor federation needs a new leader for the good of labor interests.

In part the mine workers' Journal will say:

"Gompers has long ago served his usefulness to union labor. He has been head of the federation for twenty-five years and during this time he has become fossilized. His connection with the Civic Federation has robbed him of any value he might be to the labor movement. During the last twenty-five years Mr. Gompers has built up a political machine by which he can elect himself. The adoption of the referendum sounds the knell of Gompers and the rank and file of the labor movement will not consent to his election next year."
